21½ Feet Long

This Is A Root?

Think you have sewer troubles?

This monstrous root measuring nearly 21½ feet long was removed from a sanitary sewer in Beechwood Monday by a crew from the sewage disposal plant hunting the reason for a stopped line which was causing water to back up a lateral to a trailer home on Reynolds St.

Charles Huddleston, superintendent of the sewage treatment plant, and William McCune (on ladder), a temporary operator, hold the weeping willow root to show how it towered over a garage building.

James Mitchell, maintenance man who resides nearby, went to the property Monday to see if he could determine the reason for the blockage. After the resident called yesterday morning to report the condition was getting worse, Mitchell and William Wolfe took a power rodding machine to the 8-inch line.

The machine cut off a section of the big end, measuring about 1½ inches in thickness, and then hauled out the remainder of the root, Huddleston explained.

Despite the enormous length, Huddleston said part of the root at the thick end was lost. The vitrified pipe may have been damaged by the root as it sought water.

One of the root feelers probably entered the pipe through a joint and then expanded, Huddleston said. He was unable to estimate how long the root had been in the sewer but said the sewer was on a dead-end section and hadn't been used for about three years until the couple tapped into the line several months ago.

Roots from weeping willow and poplar trees cause the most problems and damages to sewers in hunting water. A city ordinance has outlawed the planting of poplar trees.

Passed On First Reading

Anti-Strikebreak Action Advanced By City Council

A controversial ordinance directed at banning the employment of strikebreakers was passed on first reading Monday night by City Council, but a motion for final passage under suspension of rules fell one vote short of approval.

A near-capacity crowd, almost equally divided between union representatives who are backing the measure and business and industry executives who are opposing it, crowded into the Council chamber for the meeting.

Unless special meetings are called, the measure will be up for second reading at the next Council meeting on Oct. 7.

Councilmen Floyd Murray, Kenneth C. Berg, S. James Welch, Edward Massey, George Willshaw and Frank Duffy voted for passage on first reading after each had expressed his feelings relative to the legislation. Councilman Robert W. Sample Jr., chairman of the ordinance committee, was absent.

When Murray made a motion for suspension of the rules, Willshaw dissented, delaying the move for final passage last night. Six votes are required to pass legislation under suspension of rules.

The following is the text of the ordinance as passed on first reading:

"It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation who is not a party to nor directly involved in an authorized labor strike or lockout, to recruit any person or persons for employment, or to secure for any person or persons any employment, when the purpose of such recruiting, securing or offering to secure employment is to have such persons take the place in employment of employees in an industry where a labor strike or lockout exists; and it shall be unlawful for any person so solicited or recruited to replace any employee in the bargaining unit where a strike or lockout exists. Whoever violates

Jury Indicts Dinsio

On Burglary Charges

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Franklin County Grand Jury has indicted Amil A. Dinsio, 27, of Youngstown on two counts in connection with the Sept. 6 burglary of a Columbus supermarket. The grand jury Monday charged Dinsio, who also faces criminal indictments in Mahoning County and West Virginia, with burglary and breaking into a safe deposit box. He is held on $100,000 bond.

2 Senators See Test Ban Differently

Symington Offers Strong Support, Thurmond Against

WASHINGTON (AP)—The limited nuclear test-ban treaty drew strong support today from Sen. Stuart Symington and strong opposition from Sen. Strom Thurmond.

"Unless there can be some understanding among the growing number of nations that will have the weapon, a nuclear holocaust is only a question of time," declared Symington, a Missouri Democrat.

Symington, a former secretary of the Air Force said in a prepared Senate speech the treaty banning all but underground testing "will not affect to any appreciable extent our capability to destroy the Soviet Union if a retaliatory strike is required."

On the other side of the debate—which shows indications of continuing into next week—Thurmond, a South Carolina Democrat, charged the treaty constitutes "major risks and jeopardies to the capability of the United States to deter a nuclear war in the future."

The Senate granted unanimous consent Monday to move from debate on the treaty itself to consideration of the resolution of ratification, to which a series of reservations, understandings and interpretations have been offered.

But so many senators remain to speak on the issue that the goal of a final vote by Friday still appeared doubtful.

So far, 77 senators are committed to or inclined to vote for ratification. Thirteen are opposed. Ten are doubtful or undecided. Ratification requires a two-thirds majority of those voting—67 favorable votes if all 100 senators should vote.

Both Symington and Thurmond are members of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee which heard much military and scientific testimony critical of the treaty.

Symington lined up with the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who held that there are military risks and disadvantages to the treaty, but that with safeguards for U.S. security the treaty was acceptable.

But Thurmond said in his prepared address that the military chiefs merely "went along with the White House," and that this was different from supporting the treaty.

"The chiefs of staff may not have been threatened outright, and most probably were not," Thurmond said, "but the chiefs live in an environment which daily demonstrates the rule of rigid compliance with decisions from above."

Symington said he had listened to the testimony of 44 witnesses as a member of both the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and the preparedness subcommittee.

No News Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy does not plan to hold a news conference this week, the White House reported late Monday.

7 More Days To Register

To be eligible to vote in East Liverpool at the Nov. 5 general election, you must register with the County Election Board at 129 W. 6th St. if:

You haven't voted at a primary, general or special election in the last two years; you've changed your name by marriage or court action; you've become 21 since the last election or will be 21 on or before Nov. 5.

A new resident is qualified to vote after he has resided in Ohio a year and in Columbiana County and his precinct 40 days prior to Election Day. East Liverpool is the only community in the county where voters registration is required.

'Cindy' Packing 80-MPH Punch

12,000 Flee As Hurricane Slams Over Land In Louisiana And Texas

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (AP) — Hurricane Cindy slammed over land with her full force at 8 a.m. today after hurling high winds and tides at the Texas and Louisiana coasts all night.

The hurricane's 80-mile-an-hour punch moved in between Galveston and Port Arthur.

About 12,000 persons fled ahead of the winds and abnormal tides, most of them leaving Louisiana's Cameron Parish where more than 500 died in hurricane Audrey in 1957.

Texas coastal residents generally remained calm. Only those living on very low ground fled their homes.

Tides at Port Arthur were expected to go no higher than 5 feet above normal after earlier forecasts of 8 feet. Even at 5 feet, some ground is subject to flooding in this low area.

Galveston's tides reached 5 to 8 feet above normal. But the major portion of the flooding came from heavy rain rather than tides.

The Red Cross counted 1,078 persons it had placed in 13 shelters in Galveston County.

Weathermen predicted that rains as great as 10 inches would fall as a result of the hurricane. Strong winds spread out 100 miles from the eye.

The storm sprang up suddenly in the Gulf of Mexico Monday and did not reach the power of a hurricane until late afternoon.

During the night, Cindy turned slightly to the west after first aiming at Sabine Pass which separates Louisiana and Texas.

At Port Arthur, about 530 persons sought refuge in Edison Junior High School.

The town of Cameron, La., was sealed off as rising tides covered the only highways leading inland.

It was in Cameron and surrounding Cameron Parish that more than 500 died in hurricane Audrey in 1957.

The 10,000 residents of the parish moved inland, most to Lake Charles and Sulphur.

At least three persons were missing on boats off the parish.

Twenty-six men, trapped by the sudden forming of the storm, rode out the winds and battering waves on two offshore oil well drilling rigs. Crewmen on one rig reported 30-foot waves and 55 mile-per-hour winds.

Lake Charles Mayor Alfred E. Roberts declared his city in a state of emergency and said it was prepared to feed up to 10,000 refugees.

Salvation Army and other relief agencies moved in.

Port Arthur's 70,000 population boarded up, taped windows and sandbagged to reduce damage.

Will Blame Governor For Incident

1,200 Back Move To Carry Protest To State Capital

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Birmingham Negroes incensed over the bombing deaths of four of their children plan to march on Montgomery to lay directly before Gov. George C. Wallace their feeling that he is to blame for the slayings.

At their first gathering since the Sunday morning dynamite blast, an estimated 1,200 Negroes took a unanimous standing vote Monday night to endorse a march on the state house.

The vote came after three integration leaders called for non-violence and accused Wallace of causing the racial tension that led to the dynamiting of the Sixteenth Street Baptist Church. No date for the march was set.

An afternoon funeral service for Carol Robertson, 14, one of the four girls killed by the blast, was scheduled at St. John's African Methodist Episcopal church.

The Rev. Fred Shuttlesworth told the rally that mass services for the other three victims will be Wednesday afternoon at the Sixth Avenue South Baptist Church—where the rally was held. The three were Denise McNair, 11, and Addie Mae Collins and Cynthia Wesley, both 14.

Negro leaders here and around the nation called for use of more federal power in Birmingham, but a government source in Washington said there was no legal basis to put additional troops in the city now. There are 300 federalized National Guardsmen on alert here.

Sheriff Melvin Bailey said two white teen-agers were arrested on an open charge in the slaying of one of two Negro boys shot to death a few hours after the dynamite blast.

City police said the other youth was killed when they fired buckshot at fleeing Negroes after a rock-throwing incident.

State Begins Rebuttal In Hlista Trial

BULLETIN:

BEAVER — The prosecution rested noon today after calling rebuttal witnesses in the trial of Walter J. Hlista Jr., murder trial and with the defense, which rested its case earlier, was to begin closing arguments this afternoon.

BEAVER — District Atty. Richard Stewart began calling rebuttal witnesses this morning as the trial of Walter Hlista Jr., 19, moves into its final stages. He is accused of first degree murder in the slaying of his father.

The prosecution expected to call at least three in rebuttal after the defense rested its case at 9:50 this morning before a jury and Judge Robert McCreary in Beaver County Court.

The trial began Sept. 9 and may reach the jury Wednesday. Earlier, a specialist in criminal psychiatry testified that young Hlista told him he felt "a kind of storm and rain inside him" before his father was shot to death.

Dr. Phillip Q. Roche, an assistant professor in neurology and psychiatry at the University of Pennsylvania, testified in the defense of the 19-year-old defendant who is accused of slaying his police chief father.

Dr. Roche said young Hlista described how he felt the night of last Feb. 28 when Walter Hlista Sr., 44, police chief of Harmony Twp., was shot in the Hlista home.

Open Tues. evening till 8:30. Birch Supply Co. Railroad St.—Adv.

Council Given Proposal

Merchants' Group Urges Use Of Tokens In Meters

The East Liverpool Merchants Association proposed to City Council Monday night that it consider legislation permitting the use of tokens in parking meters.

In a separate action, Council also turned down a request from Safety - Service Director Robert Owen for 100 additional meters at new locations, but authorized the replacement of worn-out meters.

Ralph A. Finley, chairman of the downtown improvements committee, in a letter to Council, said use of the tokens would stimulate business, provide additional revenue through greater use of the meters and would be a goodwill gesture by merchants, who, in effect, would be paying for parking by their customers.

Under the proposal, Finley said ELMA would purchase the tokens and provide them to the city free of charge and the city in turn would re-sell them to the association for distribution to members.

The members would furnish the tokens to customers for use in meters and they would be re-deemed from the city for five cents each, Finley said.

Council approved a motion by

Councilman George Willshaw to turn the proposal over to the planning committee, headed by Councilman Floyd Murray. Willshaw suggested the committee confer with Finley on the plan.

In his report to Council on the revamping of the parking meter system, Murray said the committee approved the plan to replace the worn-out meters but declined to go along with the proposal for 100 additional meters.

The committee also wants Owen to specify the number of meters to be replaced, Murray said.

Council was told at its meeting last week that approximately 300 meters need to be replaced.

Council had received several

Field Auditor To Testify In Mayhew Trial

Sheriff, 2 Bankers Others Testify In Embezzlement Case

A state field auditor and others were due to testify today as the trial of Edgar Mayhew of Pugh-town continued in Hancock County Circuit Court in the alleged embezzlement of $53,797 in county tax funds. The trial began Monday with testimony by four state's witnesses following opening arguments and introduction of evidence.

Mayhew is charged with the embezzlement while serving as chief deputy in the tax collection department of the county sheriff's office between Jan. 1, 1933, and Sept. 13, 1962.

More Recent Period

But in opening statements, Prosecutor Floyd R. Tarr said he will attempt to prove the embezzlement of county funds in the period only from Dec. 31, 1960, to June 30, 1961, amounting to about $5,000.

Judge James G. McClure, who is hearing the trial of the 64-year-old former tax clerk, advised that the penalty is the same for a defendant convicted of embezzlement during a certain period of time as it is for one convicted of embezzlement of a large amount over a long period.

The jurist said the penalty for anyone convicted of embezzlement is 1-10 years in state penitentiary. In remarks aside, he said restitution is not involved here, only sentence in case of conviction.

Bank Officials Heard

The jury of 11 men and one woman heard testimony yesterday from two Weirton bank officials, ex-county sheriff Clayton Hobbs of Chester and Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny.

Today, the prosecutor was expected to summon J. Rector Britton, field auditor of the office of the West Virginia State Tax Commissioner; Miss Eleanor Patterson, now chief tax deputy in the office of the sheriff, and Mrs. Irene Cullen, an office clerk.

Britton uncovered the shortage in the tax office in an audit of the books and is expected to be the state's key witness.

Tarr said in opening remarks yesterday that there are three ways in which the shortage of funds was concealed. He explained that they are transfer checks inflating the bank balance.

Lisbon Firm Given School Coal Contract

The Mineral Fuel & Supply Co. of Lisbon was awarded a contract to supply four types of coal to city schools when the Board of Education met Monday night.

The Lisbon firm, which submitted the lowest of two bids received, offered to supply 5-inch lump coal at $8.70 per ton, egg coal at $8.25 and nut and stoker coal at $7.

The other bidder was Quality Feed of Wellsville.

The board accepted the resignations of two teachers and approved the appointments of three instructors.

2 Resign Posts

The resignations were received from Harry Wolfe, general business and geography teacher and head basketball coach at East Junior High, and Mrs. Jo-An Yedgenak, who was hired earlier this year to teach at McKinley.

Wolfe has accepted a teaching post in California and Mrs. Yedgenak will continue as a substitute teacher, Supt. Paul H. Blair told the board.

Donald Donatelli was appointed to fill Wolfe's teaching post. The coaching vacancy was filled at the last meeting.

The board appointed Lester Hickman to replace Mrs. Yedgenak and also approved John Robinson, former teacher and head basketball coach at Wells High School in Newell, as a high school instructor.

The board also authorized four Beaver Local District students to attend city schools if their parents pay tuition. They are Rosemary Hayes, Linda Lowers, William Smith and Michael Smith.

5 Rentals Approved

Five rentals also were approved for use of Westgate facilities. The Citizens Scholarship Foundation was granted use of Westgate library tonight for a committee meeting.

The Columbiana County Motor Club and the safety committee of the Chamber of Commerce were authorized to use Westgate auditorium Sept. 25 for a recognition program for school safety patrols. Use of Westgate auditorium Oct. 31 by the Columbiana County Youth for Christ for a sacred song concert also was approved.

Auditorium For Parade

The East Liverpool chapter of SPEBSQSA, Inc., was given permission to use Westgate auditorium April 10-12 for its annual "Parade of Quartets."

The board authorized Dickey's All-Star basketball team permission to use Westgate gymnasium for basketball practice but accepted Supt. Blair's recommendation that the practice be limited to one night because of the numerous activities at the school. The team had sought to hold practices on Tuesday and Thursday nights.

The team will be given its choice as to the night. Miss Kathryn Liebschner, clerk-treasurer, reported a balance of $187,046 in school funds, including $134,205 in the general operating account. Other balances included $30,539 in bond retirement; $4,989, lunch room; $229, repair and maintenance; $2,212, improvement; and $397, night schools.

Deficits In 2 Funds

There are deficits of $4,487 in the Title III fund and $1,019 in the workbook account, she reported.

The building committee headed by James Moss reported on the inspection it conducted of all buildings prior to the opening of school.

The board adopted a resolution presented by the State Board of Education on the strengthening of the teaching of Americanism in the schools.

City Youth Flees Ohio Prison Farm With Pal

A 19-year-old city youth is one of two inmates of the Grafton State Prison Farm near Elyria being sought by police following their escape Monday.

Gary L. Lee, whose last address was 106 Drury Ln., and Eugene Stout, 21, of Carroll County were sent to bring in cattle from pasture for milking, authorities said, but failed to return.

Lee was sentenced to the Mansfield Reformatory Feb. 28 to 1-20 years for operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent. He was charged with taking the car of Marion Zelasko of Wellsville R.D. 1 last January. Stout was sentenced in 1961 for robbery.

Man To Be Arraigned On 2 Counts Of Arson

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Clyde W. Hood, 27, of Bridgeport faced arraignment before County Court Judge Paul Ochsenbren today on two counts of arson.

Belmont County Prosecutor William H. Irwin said Hood admitted setting fire to the Scott Lumber Co. in Bridgeport last Monday and to the Associated Box Co. in Martins Ferry last Tuesday. Both fires caused damage estimated at $250,000.

Malaysia Breaks Diplomatic Ties With 2 Nations

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—Malaysia today broke diplomatic relations with Indonesia and the Philippines, the government announced.

Shortly before the announcement, screaming, rock-throwing Malay demonstrators stormed the Indonesian Embassy compound, setting fire to one building and smashing windows and furniture. The riot was retaliation for a similar mob action Monday against the Malaysian Embassy in Jakarta and the Malayan Consulate in Medan, North Sumatra. Indonesia bitterly opposes the new Malaysian Federation of Malaysia, Singapore, Sarawak and North Borneo.

More than 1,000 persons took part in the demonstration at Kuala Lumpur. About 200 surged into the embassy grounds. No one was injured during the 35-minute demonstration.

Man Ruled As Sane, Able To Stand Trial

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—Frederick W. Spears, 26, under indictment on two counts of first-degree murder, is sane and able to stand trial, officials at Lima State Hospital report.

Fairfield County Sheriff Jack Blazer said he will return Spears to the Fairfield County jail today. Spears was indicted July 31 in the death of Mrs. Virginia Wagner, 35, of Lancaster last Dec. 19 and for the slaying of Mrs. Mona Eckard, 25, of Rt. 3, Lancaster, May 23.

He also was indicted for burglary and assault in an attack on a Bloom Township housewife last June.

Rev. King's Brother Will Speak At Rally

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—The Rev. A. D. King is to speak at a freedom rally here tonight, substituting for his brother, the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., a top Negro leader who remained in Birmingham, Ala. during the racial unrest in that city.

But Dr. King, president of the Southern Christian Leadership conference, and A. Philip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, are scheduled to address a rally in Cleveland's Cory's Methodist Church Wednesday night.

Council

this section shall be fined not more than $500 or imprisoned not more than 30 days, or both."

The proposed ordinance has been backed by various labor organizations, chiefly the Citizens Job Protection Committee of International Typographical Union 318, and has been opposed by several business and industry executives.

Three businessmen spoke against passage of the legislation before it was introduced, arguing the law is "anti-business" and could be detrimental to efforts to attract new industry.

Three union representatives urged Council to enact the law, declaring the measure would not prohibit any business or industry from hiring men to take the place of strikers, but would bar the employment of a third party to recruit "scabs."

Review Executive Speaks

The first to speak during the personal privilege section of the meeting in which residents can address Council was George A. Shaw, publisher and business manager of The Review, who declared the proposed ordinance is "not good" for the city.

"East Liverpool is not in very good shape," Shaw said. He pointed out that only five business indices show increased activity, while retail sales have declined to $36 million from $48 million five years ago and that there's also a downturn in employment, industrial payrolls, production and new construction.

The city needs new industries to reduce unemployment, to increase the tax revenue so more services can be offered and to grow, he continued.

"Many civic groups have been working to put the city into condition to attract new industries, but the proposed law would be a roadblock."

"Industry can choose from thousands of other cities who want new business but enough not to throw roadblocks in the way," Shaw said. Some specialized businesses must depend on agencies to recruit their employees whether or not they are affected by strike conditions.

The so-called job protection law would help only special groups at the expense of other citizens, he claimed.

Shaw said one businessman has declared the proposed legislation should be termed "the union member's job protection law."

Many who have discussed the law have questioned its constitutionality, asking if Council has the authority to act as an arbiter in matters concerning only labor and management and pointing out Council cannot legislate a business operation.

Shaw told Council members they have expressed a desire and demonstrated a pledge to help East Liverpool become a better city. "Tonight you have one of your best opportunities," he said, in urging the law, not to be enacted.

John Hall Is Heard

John T. Hall, president of the Hall China Co., said he cannot remember the need for such a law and said it appeared to him the labor groups are trying to obtain something they cannot gain through collective bargaining.

He praised the International Brotherhood of Operative Pottery and its president, E. L. Wheatley, for halting a "wildcat" strike at the pottery last year, but said Wheatley would be powerless to act if the proposed legislation is approved.

Hall also questioned how the action would affect City Hospital. "You can't legislate that no one will be ill," he said, pointing out public utilities "are in the same boat."

Alvin T. Babb, vice president and secretary-treasurer of YELP Service, Inc., said he is opposed to the legislation because there is no need for it. It will take away personal rights of both business and labor and it is strictly anti-business, he continued.

Citing the formation of the new Community Improvement Corp., Babb asked what chance it will have to attract new industry if the measure is passed. One of the first questions any industry asks before establishing a location is the attitude of the administration toward business, he said.

Supporting the measure were

Charles Brookes, president, and Russell Matthews, secretary, of ITU 318 and Harold Simms of May St., also an ITU member.

They pointed out the legislation would not prevent any business or industry from hiring workers to replace those on strike but would prohibit the employment of a third party to recruit "scabs".

Cities in which "scabs" have been used have experienced an increase in crime, they claimed.

Massey Asks Change

Joseph Burcham of W. 4th St. told Council he can recall the use of "scabs" during a bus strike. "I wouldn't want to go through that again," he commented.

When the legislation was introduced, Massey, the first to speak, said it would be impossible for him to support the measure the way it was written.

To protect both sides, Massey said the words "an authorized" should be inserted before "labor strike or lockout", pointing out the absence could allow the bill to be interpreted in many ways.

In event of a "wildcat" strike which is not authorized by the union, any union member going to work could be guilty of violating the law, Massey said.

"I am definitely not against the ordinance," he said, declaring he also could recall the use of scabs.

Agreeing to Massey's suggestion, Berg commented, "I don't see why this has caused so much controversy. It is difficult to imagine anyone resorting to such tactics." He again expressed his willingness to help the city progress, but added that he didn't believe the proposed ordinance could do any harm.

Willshaw said he has talked to some industrialists who conceded the legislation might have some effect on a decision to locate in a community, but would not be a primary factor.

Urging Council not to place the measure on an emergency basis, Willshaw said he has been unable to obtain a ruling on how the law would affect contract haulers.

Murray also agreed with the insertion of "authorized" but pointed out labor leaders do not authorize wildcat strikes.

Welch commented he has been contacted directly by only two people and pointed out a similar ordinance was enacted recently in Erie, Pa.

Council does not want to do anything to endanger the chance of new industry, Welch said, adding that East Liverpool hasn't had bad strikes like some other communities.

Others Express Views

Welch said he was "quite sure" the measure would be passed only after three readings, which would allow more time for consideration.

Duffy declared, "Labor always has gone along with moves for new industry, but it also wants job security. There's nothing here to hurt and it may never have to be used."

Massey suggested the legislation be turned back to the ordinance committee and Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper to be rewritten, but Murray disputed the move, declaring Council could insert the words "an authorized".

His motion on the amendment was approved unanimously and the unanimous vote on first reading followed.

Council President Charles N. Edwards declared the motion for passage under suspension of rules dead after Willshaw's dissenting vote, ending the long discussion. Council also received and filed a letter from IBOP Local 124 endorsing the proposed legislation.

Plant Fumes Hit In Health Board Order

LISBON — The Nease Chemical Co. of Salem was ordered to abate a fumes nuisance immediately by the Columbiana County Board of Health Monday night.

After hearing testimony of neighbors near the plant, off Route 14 Alt., northwest of Salem, the board unanimously passed a resolution declaring that the fumes are noxious and offensive and injurious to health and ordering the company to remedy the situation immediately.

The board ruled the firm was in violation of an Ohio Code section.

Board members voting on the resolution were Atty. Howard Cole, president, and Felix Butch, both of Lisbon; Dr. L. S. Pritchard of Columbiana, and Fred Johnson of Summitville. Glen Hawkins of New Waterford R.D. 1 was absent.

16 Register Complaint

Sixteen residents in the area appeared at last night's meeting and said the vapors still are coming from the plant but not as often as before. Mrs. John Fitch listed dates of the fumes since June.

Others complaining were John Fitch, Carl P. Sebel, Donald L. Greenmyer, John Krizay, J. A. Pendergrast, Mr. and Mrs. Don C. Getz and Wayne O. Hahn. All reported odors from the plant at different times.

Dr. T. C. Dauphine of State College, Pa., spoke in behalf of the company and said it has completed all recommendations in trying to eliminate the odors and he said they have been reduced about 95 per cent or "about all that they can possibly do." He said all chemical plants have odors.

The health board said it has no authority as to the safety measures of the plant and that the company agreed to do this work on its own, including a fence and warning whistle.

Atty. Alfred Fitch, representing several of the neighbors, told the board it had only one alternative and that was order the firm to abate the nuisance since the company had not complied with a previous order.

Other Sources Seen

Dr. Dauphine said several of the odors that neighbors complained about couldn't have been coming from the plant as it had not been operated over weekends.

In other business, the board discussed a letter from county commissioners concerning Dr. F. G. Kravac of Youngstown, to handle the job of county controller of tuberculosis. He is TB clinic director.

The board asked that Dr. Kravac appear at the next meeting and discuss his duties and activities, providing the four other health districts in the county would go along with the proposal. East Liverpool and East Palestine already have agreed but Wellsville and Salem have not answered the commissioners' letter.

Permits Issued

The health department issued 44 plumbing and 44 sewage permits during the month.

Harry Stockdale, sanitarian, made 10 food service inspections, 21 sewage, 19 water, 13 nuisance, one trailer park, one refuse inspection and held seven consultations.

Gene Cover, plumbing inspector, made 61 plumbing inspections, 42 sewage, three nuisance and seven water inspections.

Mrs. Violet Peterson, county health nurse, gave 20 physical examinations, made three school visits, four to the jail, four home visits, gave five Mantoux TB tests and held seven consultations.

The Tuberculosis Clinic reported five new cases during the month, two were admitted to the TB Hospital and one was discharged. Seven were started on drug therapy and the staff gave 172 TB skin tests.

Hancock GOP Aims Status

General discussion on the party's status in the county featured the Hancock County Young Republican Club meeting Monday night in the Weirton Community Center.

John Currenton Jr., president, presided. The club agreed on an objective of becoming a vigorous and active minority party immediately, with a view of becoming the majority party.

Members cited four points on which to improve: lack of vigorous GOP leadership; failure of various Republicans of some promise to attend club meetings; lack of effective programs designed to attract members to the party ranks and keeping the public informed of its stand on public issues, and inability of the club to function properly without support of the County Executive Committee.

Jack M. Skidmore of Weirton was enrolled as a new member. State Sen. Chester Hubbard of Wheeling, who was to have been speaker, was unable to attend. Seventeen were present. Date of the next meeting will be announced.

Post Office Work Begins

Construction has started on Wellsville's new Post Office on 11th St.

The entire site between Main and Center Sts. was cleared to begin work on the new building, according to the Better Homes Investment Corp. of Youngstown, general contractor.

One garage was left standing to serve as an office for the construction. The Youngstown firm is operated by three brothers, Kenneth, Ronald and Richard Burgman.

Kenneth and Ron are at the site directing the construction and doing some of the work themselves.

They said today they have set Nov. 1 as the goal for completion of the structure. "We may not achieve it, but we will be close," they commented.

Almost all the footers have been poured and some masonry work started.

The two old homes were razed by Clifford Athey of Wellsville. The new structure will cost between $110,000 and $120,000. It will be concrete block with a brick facing over the entire exterior.

Midland Teen-Agers Hurt In Auto Wreck

Two Midland area teen-agers were in "good" condition at Rochester General Hospital today with injuries received in a one-car accident Sunday afternoon on the Tuscarawas Rd., back of Midland.

Marsha Fetterman, 14, of 172 Fairlane Dr., Meadowbrook Estates, Industry, received lacerations and contusions, and Bonnie McNeely, 16, of 1145 Ohio Ave., Midland, received multiple lacerations.

The mishap occurred when the compact sedan in which the girls were riding went out of control as one of the wheels left the road and hit the soft berm, rolling over several times.

Post Filled At Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — Richard D. Miller was appointed Second Ward councilman Monday night, succeeding Charles Brant who resigned as a result of incompatibility with his Ohio Highway Department job.

Miller, of 38 E. Main St., was an unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination for the Second Ward seat in May. He was formerly associated with his father in a garage business at Enon Valley, but recently opened a truck service stop at North Lima.

Brant, an aide in the engineering department of the highway office, resigned because of Civil Service regulations concerning political posts. He is a candidate for re-election to the Council seat, but he and Chester Whitehouse, candidate for Council president, have indicated they will not campaign and will not serve if elected.

Charles Kelley was named vice president of Council, replacing Councilman Frank Early who was appointed president to succeed Whitehouse, who resigned early this month.

Council passed an ordinance requiring motorists to stop when approaching loading or unloading school bus. The ordinance is similar to the state regulation.

Mayor Robert Harding reported the new sewage disposal facility is 70 per cent complete, and should be in operation within six weeks.

down when he became ill, the family reported.

Officers looked for him in the area, but were unable to locate him. His parents, notified later, also looked for him and discovered him walking along the Campground Rd. about 6 p. m., the family said.

The car was extensively damaged in the crash which occurred about a half mile north of Wellsville.

A woman who saw the crash notified Wellsville firemen, who in turn telephoned the patrol.

Graham told officers he did not remember at what rate of speed he was traveling. He is slated to appear in Traffic Court at Lisbon in connection with his driving without a license and unsafe operation, the patrol said.

Registration Ended For Voting In Beaver

BEAVER — James B. Keifer, chief registrar, said today that 135 Democrats, 115 Republicans and two non-partisan registered at the Courthouse Monday in the final day to qualify to vote in the Nov. 5 election.

Including the field registration, the totals show 1,518 Democrats registering, 698 Republicans and 27 non-partisan. There were also 843 changes of address.

Salem Man Heads Drive For Muscular Dystrophy

Atty. Guy A. Mauro of Salem had been named chairman of the annual Columbiana County Muscular Dystrophy Fund drive to be held later this fall.

Announcement of the chairmanship was made at a meeting of the county chapter Monday night at Salem.

A goal of $6,800 has been set for the drive for funds for national research and county projects. There are 11 patients currently in the county. Some 75 per cent goes for research, and 25 per cent for county work.

Eric Nyberg of Salem, vice president, and Mrs. Leo Jenkins, patient service chairman, reported on the camp session which two county patients attended last month.

A report of the Tri-State Muscular Dystrophy Conference and work session at Columbus last week was given by Mrs. Robert Talbott, president, and Mrs. Jenkins of Rogers.

Mrs. Talbott of Salem told of the various disease information and history aspects of the MD group.

Mrs. Jenkins, patient chairman, reported on visits to a rehabilitation center at Ohio State University and described methods, therapy and equipment utilized. She also told of types of kitchen equipment available for MD patients' homes.

Next meeting is Oct. 21.

Meeting Set To Plan For March Of Dimes

LISBON — Columbiana County March of Dimes sponsors will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at the American Legion home.

Plans for the January fund solicitation will be discussed, along with a report of progress being made by children receiving hospital care.

Richard G. Brian of East Liverpool, president of the Columbiana County Chapter, will preside.

Chester Man Fined; Accident Unreported

John Keller, 34, of 3rd St., Chester, was fined $10 and costs Monday night by Chester Mayor Harry Abrams for failure to report a traffic accident.

Keller was cited Sept. 8 after a collision involving his car and one operated by William G. Cashdollar, 17, of Orion Ave., at Route 30 and Lawrenceville Rd.

Keller stopped his car after the sideswiping and advised Cashdollar he would be responsible for paying for repairs, but did not report the accident to officials, police said.

It Will Take A Miracle

Even the Negro-baiting Alabama governor who helped to stir up trouble in Birmingham knows now it will take a miracle to save the city from a race-violence disaster.

The mayor of Birmingham knows it. Negro leaders in Birmingham know it. Those four small Negro girls killed by a bomb in a Baptist church Sunday and the other Negroes killed and injured in a tempest of hate and fear over the weekend have brought the city to a boiling point.

Only a miracle can save it — and where could a miracle be found?

ONE PLACE could be in the hearts of white people in Birmingham and Alabama who do not share the hatred of extremists capable of bombing churches to terrorize Negroes.

These people are not represented in government, due to the numerical importance of anti-Negro voters who line up strongly behind racists like Gov. Wallace. But they are influential in banking, business and society. They have great power when they choose to use it, as they have demonstrated.

The other place could be in the hearts of the Negroes, themselves.

They are imbued as a race with the precepts of Christianity, more so than many of their white persecutors who profess to be Christians but are motivated only by hate, never by love.

THESE PATIENT people have won admiration and respect by their forbearance.

They astonished the nation and the world by the dignity they showed in the Freedom March in Washington.

It is symbolic of the terrible thing happening to them that the most brutal attack against them was made while they and their children were at worship.

This is the miracle that could save Birmingham.

It is the miracle that could save America.

Nothing less will do.

The Canton Story

By the printed word and by word of mouth we had been enlightened about the progress the city of Canton has made in its extensive revitalization program.

Over the weekend, during the fall meeting of the Associated Press Society of Ohio, we had the opportunity to view much of the progress firsthand.

The picture that unfolded was an inspiring one. The many things that have been accomplished are a direct tribute to the far-sightedness, to the energy, to the hard work and to sacrifices in many forms of people who want to get things done and who have a fierce pride in the community in which they live.

The new $3,500,000 City Hall, the colorful Central Plaza, the magnificent professional football hall of fame and varied other types of construction present in physical form the results that may be achieved when the intangible qualities of an aroused citizenry are brought into full force.

Canton offers a dynamic demonstration of civic improvement which East Liverpool and other communities interested in bettering their lot cannot afford to ignore.

Who Makes The Improvement?

Leroy Collins, president of the National Association of Broadcasters, has urged newspapers to be aware of a dangerous proposal by the Federal Communications Commission.

The FCC wants authority to regulate the amount of time radio and television broadcasters may use for commercials. Mr. Collins warns that this would be a foot in the door not only for radio and television but for the press.

He candidly admits that improvement is necessary and that the regulations of the National Association of Broadcasters are hard to enforce. But the association is getting stronger and doing better, he declares.

The issue as he sees it is not whether commercials should be made more tolerable than they sometimes are. It is whether the FCC should get its foot in the door, or whether this is another situation where private enterprise is justified in shouting, "Please, Sam, I'd rather do it myself!"

We can get as sore as the next fellow when broadcasters pack so many commercials into a program they ruin it not only for buyers of time, who get cheated, but for viewers, whose patience is exhausted.

But surely this is not a reason to let a government agency barge into something where it has no right to be. The FCC is receiving comments on the matter until the end of September. It should not be encouraged to think there is any demand for bureaucratic intrusion.

Better handling of commercials on some broadcasts, yes. More government in broadcasting, no.

Words For Thought

Time and again the need has been pounded home in one form or another for the choosing of responsible leadership in governmental affairs at all levels.

The Rev. T. G. S. Whitney, rector of Our Saviour Episcopal Church at neighboring Salem, threw down the challenge again in a strongly worded appeal Sunday.

He called for "concern, morality and sound informed judgment in matters of government by those who are ultimately responsible . . . the people of a community."

With the November elections not too far distant, there is no time like the present for voters to give serious thought to the rector's words.

Another Link

The first northern phase of the Lake Erie-Ohio River Highway was dedicated today during ceremonies at Ashtabula.

As the terminal point of the river end of the highway, East Liverpool — along with its neighbors — is very happy about the whole thing. While there's a long way yet to go in the middle, the fact that both ends of the highway have been completed is definite evidence of progress.

The lake-river highway is another modern traffic artery that can mean much to the development of the city and surrounding areas. There's not much sense in building a better mousetrap today unless people can get there in a hurry to see it.

See You Around

A pair of researchers who carried on a six-year medical study of 86, 750 du Pont Co. employees learned some interesting things, like the fact big shots had 2.2 heart attacks per 1,000, though the rank-and-file racked up an even 4.

This suggested that big shots were the cause of heart attacks and little shots their victims, until the possibility was suggested that big shots are picked in the first place because they are less prone to let their blood pressure go up. They just raise it in others.

Therefore, it could be like the fact that fewer deaths occur among people in top physical condition than occur among ordinary mortals.

It's probably a little of each.

THERE ARE people, generally speaking, who cause headaches and people who suffer from headaches.

There are the ulcer sufferers—still generally speaking—and people who cause ulcers.

There are people who cause high blood pressure and people who are warned by their doctors to bring down their blood pressure.

The lines are not absolute. Occasionally a misfit from the weak camp gets over into the camp of the strong and hangs around until he gives himself away by coming apart at the seams. But mostly the race goes not only to the quick but the hardy.

The prime specimens ultimately may crack up themselves and be hauled off to Happy Valley to pick lint, but they look good in the statistics because hardihood tagged them for executive responsibility in the first place.

This is the gist of what was revealed by the du Pont study. This and a wistful footnote that says a top-management job "may be no more stressful than situations commonly encountered by persons in lower job levels, at work and at home."

AT HOME, a potential victim of modern stress and strain has a fighting chance to make up for the statistical doom that hovers over him on the job.

A contented and harmonious family environment may put him one up on the executive whose family won't let him wriggle his toes in his sock feet while he unwinds.

Incidentally, the researchers learned that being overweight after 45 doesn't seem to have any connection with heart attacks, though under obesity is asking for trouble.

In men under 45 who were both overweight and had high blood pressure there were five times as many heart attacks as occurred among men with neither handicap. As us thin people keep saying, "we'll see you around if you lay off the calories."

Odd Facts

America's most widely prevalent poisonous reptiles are the many species of rattler. The eastern diamondback is the worst of the lot, and grows to records of about seven feet over-all. He ranges from Florida through the Carolinas, and to Mississippi. His cousins, like the prairie and western rattlers, range all through the Far West and Southwest.

Horseshoe pitching was a favorite amusement among the American soldiers during the Revolutionary days — but the sport goes even farther back to ancient Greece when officers threw quoits, a metal doughnut, at stakes — while the ordinary soldiers used the discarded footwear of their horses for the same game.

If every person in the United States were suddenly to decide to go to a movie at the same time, about one-twelfth of them could be seated in the nation's motion picture houses.

One of the fastest growing of all plants is bamboo. Six or eight weeks after it has pushed through the ground, the bamboo towers 50 feet or more above the surface.

The exact number of muscles in the human body differs slightly with the individual, but is usually about 640.

The largest rodent in the world is the capybara, of Central and South America, some of these weighing almost 100 pounds.

Pleeze—I'd Rather Do It Myself!

Hodges Reported Ready To Resign

By Victor Riesel

The "quiet man", the 65-year-old dean of President Kennedy's Cabinet, Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges, has quietly sent word to the White House that he will resign in December.

It always is a big story when a hole is punched in the Cabinet. But the bigger story will be the manner in which the President and Bob Kennedy patch it up this time.

This is not the generalship which is being vacated. It is the post of secretary of commerce — a job which the business leaders say should be filled by a man as much dedicated to their interests as Arthur Goldberg was, and Willard Wirtz is, dedicated to labor.

The businessmen have been saying, during confidential talks with some government people in Washington, that their interests really are the public's interests — and labor's too — because unemployment can only be wiped out by heavy capital investment to create new plants and new jobs.

The men of industry and commerce have passed word on to the Kennedy's that they have not been encouraged.

A SIGN of such encouragement would be the appointment to Luther Hodges' spot of a man in whom the business community would have confidence — a man who has direct liaison with the country's industrialists, just as ex-lawyer Arthur Goldberg had entry into labor's inner sanctums.

There is great respect for Mr. Hodges. But he has had about as much intimate contact with the nation's businessmen as he has had with President Kennedy. This has been negligible. And that is overstatement.

President Kennedy has constantly bypassed the secretary of commerce. Therefore, businessmen did so, too. The saga of the steel cycle is typical. On April 10, 1962, it will be recalled, the President began to clobber much of the steel industry.

He called in Arthur Goldberg, then secretary of labor. Luther Hodges, though secretary of commerce, was way out on this one. It was Arthur Goldberg who met with Roger Blough, chairman of the Board of U.S. Steel. It was the labor secretary who flew into New York for the final luncheon conference with the U.S. Steel executives.

THEN PRESIDENT Kennedy and Robert Kennedy personally took over the crash campaign to rein in the confidence of labor. A series of secret meetings was held. Mr. Hodges was not on the guest list. The final coup de grace to the secretary of commerce came on Tuesday, Aug. 20. Roger Blough and United Steelworkers' chief David McDonald had been discussing the dumping of European and Japanese steel in the United States.

Both men were disturbed by the cost in jobs and profits to American industry. They felt they were not getting a fair hearing from the Treasury Department which has the power to stop such foreign dumping. They decided to go to the White House.

The contact was made directly. They were warmly received on Aug. 20 — some 16 months after the clobbering — by the President. They spoke to him about the problem and urged his intercession with the Treasury Department.

My information from at least one source in that session is that the President was friendly and indicated he would move. Mr. Hodges was not at that meeting.

Nor did the secretary of commerce play much of a role in the railroad crisis.

It was the labor secretary, Willard Wirtz, who was in constant, direct, communication with the railroad executives. It was Wirtz who was the channel to the President.

THEN THERE IS the almost forgotten presidential Advisory Committee on Labor-Management Policy. When Arthur Goldberg was chairman, the President kept the board before the nation with dramatic appearances before it.

Then the chairmanship rotated to the "quiet man" and the President and even some of the board's members began drifting away.

Mr. Hodges was put in an awkward position by all this bypassing — first by the President and then by the businessmen who felt he could not or would not speak in their behalf.

Then came the appointment of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Jr. as under secretary of commerce. There was, of course, the talk that he would succeed Hodges.

This is where the story really begins — on the eve of the 1964 presidential campaign. Will the President name Mr. Roosevelt as secretary though the business community would consider this a rebuff? Will Mr. Kennedy name a man who has the confidence of business?

Whatever Mr. Kennedy does will be the tipoff on his attitude and policies towards business during his campaign for reelection.

Today In History

Today is Tuesday Sept. 17, the 260th day of 1963. There are 105 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1862, Gen. Robert E. Lee's advance into Maryland was halted at the Battle of Antietam, one of the bloodiest of the Civil War. Twelve thousand Union soldiers and as many as 10,000 Confederates were either killed or wounded.

On this date:

In 1730, Baron Frederick von Steuben, who helped organize and train American revolutionary armies, was born in Prussia.

In 1776, the first Spanish settler began to build the Presidio on San Francisco Bay.

In 1787, the Constitution was ratified by a constitutional convention for submission to the states.

In 1939, Russian troops invaded eastern Poland.

In 1944, the first Allied airborne army landed in Holland.

One year ago . . . Nine more astronauts were named for training by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

With Reservations

By David Lawrence

President's Treaty Action Reviewed

For all practical purposes President Kennedy has put on record the most important reservation to the nuclear test-ban treaty that has emerged from any source. He formulated it in a letter to the leaders of both parties in the Senate. He gave his interpretation and his positive assurances David Lawrence on the safeguards that will be maintained. All that is needed now is a formal resolution of the Senate adopted at any time — in advance of ratification or even afterwards — taking official notice of all the President's words as an integral factor in the process of ratification of the new treaty.

The United States Senate is empowered to participate in the act of ratification of a treaty. The Constitution says the president "shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to make treaties, provided two thirds of the senators present concur."

There is no agreed-upon formula, however, as to the way by which the "advice" should be given before the treaty is actually signed by the executive branch of the government or even after negotiations with other governments, but the Senate from time to time has attached "reservations."

In the case of the treaty proposed to the Senate in 1919 after World War I by President Wilson, a dispute arose as to the kind of "reservations" that would be desirable.

One faction in the Senate spoke in favor of reservations which would have required further negotiations with other signatories to be valid although this view was not shared by the authors of the reservations. Mr. Wilson, however, considered them nullifying our participation in the League of Nations.

THEN CAME what were known as "interpretive reservations," and they were advanced as requiring no alterations of the words in the treaty but as merely explanatory or at least setting forth the view of the United States as a signatory government. But because of the controversy over the extent of the reservations, the treaty failed to win approval.

When President Harding, who had campaigned against the League of Nations, took office, the Senate ratified a new treaty omitting altogether the League of Nations covenant.

The episode represented a setback for international progress, and it may rightly be speculated whether there would have been a second world war if the United States in the 1920s and 1930s had worked closely with the peoples of Europe through the league and economic agencies of cooperation.

Today there is an understandable skepticism about the scope and meaning of the treaty limiting nuclear tests. President Kennedy wisely took note of the doubts and fears among members of the Senate and in the country generally by writing an explicit letter presenting, in effect, an "interpretive reservation."

Let the President's letter be regarded as solely based on the viewpoint of the executive branch of the government, the idea of adopting a resolution formally accepting or taking cognizance of the President's explanation of the meaning and purposes as well as limitations of the treaty could really give added prestige to the pact itself.

IT COULD have a sobering influence, too, on those governments which might otherwise be left to conjecture as to the course the United States might pursue in the future. Any joint expression by the legislative and executive branches of the government which is formalized and given conspicuous assent is bound to be helpful hereafter in the field of diplomacy and negotiations.

A resolution adopted now, moreover, would be binding upon any successor president of the United States and would take its place as a formal document alongside the treaty itself long after Senate Foreign Relations Committee reports, testimony, or the statements made at informal press conferences may have been forgotten.

The President's letter to Senators Mansfield and Dirksen might otherwise be regarded abroad as merely a domestic expedient — as a means of assuring ratification through bipartisan support in the Senate. Actually the letter, in summary, states explicitly:

1. That nuclear testing underground will be continued.

2. That this country will take whatever steps are necessary to safeguard "national security in the event that there should be an abrogation or violation of any treaty provision."

3. That this government "retains the right to resume atmospheric testing forthwith if the Soviet Union should conduct tests in violation of the treaty."

4. That our "facilities for the detection of possible violation of and improved as required to increase our assurance against clandestine violations by others."

5. That the treaty "in no way limits the authority of the commander-in-chief to use nuclear weapons for the defense of the United States and its allies, if a situation should develop requiring such a grave decision."

6. That the United States will take all necessary action if Cuba is "used either directly or indirectly to circumvent or nullify this treaty."

7. That this government "will maintain strategic forces fully ensuring that this nation will continue to be in a position to destroy any aggressor, even after absorbing a first strike by a surprise attack."

8. That the United States will diligently pursue its programs "for the further development of nuclear explosives for peaceful purposes" by tests underground now and in the air when a future treaty may permit it.

Kennedy's Only Consolation

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON — About the only consolation for President Kennedy in these troubled days at home and abroad is that Soviet Premier Khrushchev has climbed down off his back for a while.

Khrushchev's time is taken up with Red China, while Kennedy tries to cope with racial troubles in this country, with getting Senate approval of a limited nuclear test-ban treaty, and with restoring sense and order in South Viet Nam.

The Soviets have treated the United States almost amiably, compared with the past, ever since this country and Britain signed the test-ban agreement with the Soviet Union in Moscow Aug. 5.

They have even been restrained about American racial disorders, although that's a subject made to measure for Communist propaganda. There can be any number of guesses about the reasons.

The Russians don't want to give Senate opponents of the treaty extra ammunition before the Senate approves or the Russians want a new era of better relations with this country because of their disaster with the Chinese.

The completely skeptical probably see in this Russian amiability and the test-ban agreement itself a cynical scheme to hypnotize the West into lowering its guard by giving it a false sense of peace and security.

But without any of those reasons there is another explanation for the Soviets' recently muted tones toward the West: the Soviet Union has its hands full with its former Chinese ally.

Since Aug. 5 the Soviet and Chinese attacks on each other — the Chinese denounced the test ban — have become as hysterical as Soviet-Chinese attacks on the West used to be.

This Russian - Chinese split, which would be plenty excuse for the Soviet Union to switch its major attention from West to East, is perhaps the greatest break for the Western world since the war.

The two giant Communist allies, working together, had the resources for endless mischief and perhaps unimaginable gains in every corner and continent on earth.

As rivals they may well cancel out their ambition to cannibalize the world although it seems certain Red China will never stop, short of military defeat, trying to take over at least all of Asia.

Nevertheless, improved Russian-Western relations have their own dangers for the Western Allies: the possibility that, feeling the Soviet menace has slackened, they will lose their sense of interdependence and also split up.

The U. S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing, which turns out all American paper currency, started operations in 1862.

Council O.K. Given Bonds

City Council Monday night authorized three bond issues totaling $71,750 to pay for the purchase of new equipment, a piece of land on E. 2nd St. and for sealing 13 streets.

Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper explained the city is issuing bonds to retire notes issued originally to pay for the items but explained the issues couldn't be combined because proceeds will be used for different purposes.

Proceeds from a $31,000 issue will be used to retire notes issued to pay for a new fire department pumper which was delivered late in July.

Another issue of $29,500 will pay for a mechanical street sweeper and a front-end loader with backhoe attachment for the street department and purchase of the tract of land for storage of motorized equipment and street supplies and materials.

It provides $10,500 each for the sweeper and front-end loader and $8,500 for the land purchase.

The third issue for $11,250 will be used to pay for the bituminous surface treatment of Pennsylvania Ave., Harvey Ave., Elizabeth St., Rubicon St., Anderson Blvd., Park Blvd., W. 4th St., Michigan Ave., McKinnon Ave. from Jennings Ave. to Anderson Blvd., Jennings Ave., North St., Riverview St. and Perry Ave.

The ordinances set the maximum maturity of the issues at five years for the surface treatment, 10 years for the fire pumper and 12 years for the street equipment and lands.

Physician Hits At TV Cigarette Ads

There has been "a tremendous recent increase in cigarette smoking by young people". So writes Samuel M. Wishik, M.D., of the University of Pittsburgh, in a recent issue of "Pediatrics". While he believes this development is one of many changes in cultural patterns in the United States, he thinks there is no doubt that cigarette advertising, especially on TV, has a heavy hand in it. He notes what is apparent to anybody, that cigarette advertising plays up sex and maturity in order to sell its product.

To quote, "Smoking by young people is glamorized, made to seem sexually attractive and, in the male, equated with virility. She leans through the spiraling wisps of smoke; he wears a tattoo. A fellow and a girl who do not smoke are not grown up."

SOME OF US over 50 or 60 years of age can remember the time when an athlete or any other person excelling in sports or physical achievement was thought of by almost everybody, including our children, as a person who avoided smoking. Members of the high school or college football team looked up to their coach as an exemplary model of non-smoking. Any member of the team caught smoking was disciplined or kicked off.

Nowadays a favorite TV program may be interrupted by a very dramatic ad in which a famous athlete or champion in physical prowess — rodeo riding, mountain climbing, swimming — does a stunt and then says a particular cigarette is his choice. Have you ever wondered why such influential persons will sell their names to help win youths for cigarettes?

Have you ever seen in the public press or heard from the pulpit any denunciation of this unethical practice? Dr. Wishik notes that research has established as facts that smoking does have effects on the human body — increased rate of heartbeat after smoking, interference with blood circulation and reduced weight of the baby at birth whose mother had been smoking during pregnancy. Besides, there is convincing scientific evidence that cigarette smoking is closely related to lung cancer.

BUT FUNDS ARE not available to publicize such evidence at all comparable to the money available for the advertising which makes cigarette smoking glamorous, especially to teenagers. Dr. Wishik recommends a national program to combat smoking that includes the following elements:

1. Responsible adults, including parents, should try hard to persuade children not to begin smoking.
2. The possible hazards of smoking should be publicized.
3. Efforts should be made to teach children that cigarette smoking is immature, juvenile and silly. (He didn't suggest how this might be done.)
4. Ethical limits should be established concerning the public appeals that are made to young people. Self-policing by the tobacco industry and public mass media, economic pressure by individuals and organizations, even government control as in England, are possible methods.

WITH DR. WISHIK'S objectives many of us will heartily agree. However, there can hardly be great hope of success in his suggestions for arriving at these objectives in the face of the avalanche of advertising of the Madison Avenue type.

There is a faint glimmer of hope in the recent announcement by cigarette makers that they plan to cease placing cigarette ads in college campus papers.

New Figures Still Awaited For St. Clair

After a three-week lapse, the State Highway Department still hasn't furnished the city with revised figures on the St. Clair Ave. improvement project city officials requested, Councilman Kenneth Berg, chairman of the streets committee, told City Council Monday night.

"I don't know the score and I can't find out," Berg commented.

Berg said the five-man delegation met with Highway Department officials in Columbus three weeks ago and asked them to supply revised figures for a 28-foot-wide street from Henry Ave. to the north city limits since the city would be unable to finance its share of the cost for the original improvement from Princeton Ave. to the city limits.

"They promised to supply the figures in a week's time, but the mayor has received no word at all," Berg said.

"Something's got to be done about the street. It's atrocious and a disgrace to the city."

Pointing out the street department patched holes Monday, Berg said, "It's throwing money down the drain to patch the holes. I hope we can come up with something."

Berg said the residents who shared the cost of a surfacing program for unpaved streets are "very happy." "They got a good job at low cost."

Forty-four streets were included in the low-cost program this year, which Berg said will benefit not only the residents but also aid the street department by reducing the work needed to keep the streets in shape.

Donations Made By Chester VFW

Contributions of $25 each to the Chester Firemen's Community Halloween Fete Oct. 31 and to the East Liverpool Child Counseling Center were made at a meeting of Chester VFW Post 6450 Monday night at the post home.

Plans were discussed for a Veterans Day dance for members and guests Nov. 9 at the post and for a stag party Oct. 7.

Enrolled as new members were Delmer Jolly, Samuel Geller, Raymond Waite, Ernest Judy and William Steacy.

Appointed a committee for the annual Christmas party for community children and for baskets for needy families were Jerrold Wilson, William Glover and Robert Milby.

Plans were made to charter a bus to the Pittsburgh Steelers - Cleveland Browns football game at Pittsburgh Nov. 10.

Lunch was served to 18 by Jesse Selmon and Richard Shingler. George Allison, commander, was in charge. The post will meet again Oct. 21.

Stolen Property Case Hearing's Wednesday

A preliminary hearing for an East Liverpool man accused of receiving or concealing stolen property is scheduled Wednesday morning in Municipal Court.

The trial of Donald W. Buzzard, rear 679 Riley Ave., had been scheduled today but was reset to tomorrow. He has been free on a $1,000 bond since being arraigned Aug. 9 on the affidavit filed by Lt. Clyde W. Boso.

The 26-year-old defendant was charged by Lt. Boso with receiving or concealing four tractor tires worth $119 each, six binder chains valued at $50, six cargo binders worth $50, two tarpaulins worth $5 each which police said were stolen in a burglary of the Seaford Mineral & Ore Co. garage, 1253 Pennsylvania Ave., on the weekend of Aug. 3-4.

The loot was found in a little-used building on the property of Vernon Hilton of Route 7, north of East Fairfield.

2 Area Men Assigned In Air Force Training

Two East Liverpool airmen have been assigned to technical training courses following completion of Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

They are Airman John J. Paddell, Jr., son of Mrs. Elsie Paddell, 408 E. 3rd St., who will attend a course for aircraft maintenance specialists at Amarillo, Tex., and Airman Gary L. Wynn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Wynn, 1520 Maine Blvd., who will be training as an electrician at Chanute, Ill. Both are 1963 graduates of East Liverpool High School.

Composer Claimed

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—Oliver Wallace, 76, composer of "Hindustan" and a music director at the Walt Disney Studios for 27 years, died Sunday after a brief illness. Wallace was the author of more than 100 musical scores for the studio.

The largest South American nation is Brazil, while the smallest is Uruguay.

NEW FIREMAN. Richard T. Enoch, 211 E. 3rd St., began work Monday as a new city fireman, filling the vacancy created by the promotion of Gerald Goodballet to assistant chief. Enoch, 23, was discharged a year ago after three years' service in the Army. He will be assigned to Asst. Chief Alfred Van Dyne's crew starting Wednesday.

Post Sets Dinner At Lawrenceville

Plans for a Veterans Day dance and post commanders' banquet were made during a meeting of Lawrenceville American Legion Post 163 Monday night at the post home. The date will be announced later.

Plans also were discussed for a Halloween dance for children at the post home Oct. 26.

The group voted to purchase notebook paper and pencils for children of the Grandview School. Prayers were given by Glenn Gill, chaplain. A spaghetti supper was served to 25 by Samuel Kraft and his committee. Virgil Williams, commander, was in charge.

The group will meet again Oct. 7.

Air Force Has New Prior Service Plan

T.Sgt. James A. Lee, area Air Force recruiter, said today a new prior service program now in effect offers opportunities to many persons who have had previous military training.

The new regulation has expanded the Air Force "needed skill list" to 162 job specialties. Heretofore, many otherwise eligible persons were barred from enlistment because their skills were not on the "needed list" which consisted mostly of highly technical and specialized jobs.

Individuals separated from the Air Force, as well as other branches, may call Sgt. Lee to determine if their former military specialty is currently needed.

Details on the program may be obtained by calling FU 6-6181 or by visiting his office at the City Hall in East Liverpool.

Residents Reminded Of Constitution Day

Richard L. Scott, exalted ruler of Elks Lodge 258, has called on lodge members and other residents to observe Constitution Day today.

Fred Shaw is the local Americanism chairman in charge of the observance for the Elks. In a statement, the lodge said, "While the Fourth of July is a big celebration and all know what it means, many fail to realize that our Constitution was drawn up Sept. 17, 1787. It had seven articles and then in 1791, 10 amendments were added. The Bill of Rights was also added to guarantee our freedom and since that time, 13 more amendments have been added to meet the changing times."

Salineville Launches Cleaning Of Reservoir

SALINEVILLE—Cleaning of the water works reservoir began today, with all customers receiving water service up to mid-morning. Ernest Madison, superintendent, said.

The cleaning is scheduled to be completed by tonight, and it is hoped service will be furnished customers during the day, Madison said. It had been thought that residents of some elevated areas might not get water while line pressure decreased.

Ohio Marine Drowns In Freak Accident

CORDELE, Ga. (AP)—Lance Cpl. Francisco Alfalfa Jr., 22, whose parents live at Rt. 2, Clyde, Ohio, was one of two Marines who drowned Monday in a freak sailboat accident on Lake Blackshear. A third Marine escaped death.

The aluminum mast of the small boat the three were riding in hit a power line carrying an estimated 40,000 volts. The third Marine jumped overboard moments before the mast made contact with the wires.

Child Tosser Gets 3 Months

An East Liverpool man who allegedly tossed his baby to the floor during an argument with his wife received a year's sentence in the County Jail — with nine months suspended — Monday afternoon before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin of Lisbon. He was accused of contributing to the delinquency of the 5-month-old child.

Artie Bates of No. 6 Thompson Pl. received the suspension of part of the sentence on condition that he refrain from using intoxicants, does not enter places where drink is sold, gets and keeps steady employment and support his child.

Bates was cited for allegedly throwing his son on the floor twice in a family argument Sept. 3. The baby was taken to City Hospital with injuries and later placed with the Columbiana County Welfare Department.

Testimony Monday indicated that the father threw the child at the mother but the mother didn't see the child tossed to the floor.

Mrs. Alvin Pugh, a neighbor, who had called police, refused to appear at the hearing after she was asked to testify by Mrs. Bates. Originally fined for intoxication in Municipal Court, Bates denied throwing the child.

Bates testified his wife pulled his arm and he dropped the child, but later admitted he wasn't sure what just did happen during the argument. He said he did tell his wife he was going to take the child and jump out the window and admitted stepping on the window ledge, but said he was "just scaring his wife."

Judge Tobin said these are the actions of an unstable person and that he would not return the child until the home and marital status of the family is investigated.

The father suffered injuries to the shoulder and head from being either thrown or dropped during the argument.

Kaycees Expect 100 For Dinner

Approximately 100 are expected to attend the annual Constitution Day dinner of Cardinal Mercier Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, Sunday at 6 p. m. in the fire hall in New Waterford.

Fr. Joseph Bonaventure of St. Mary's Friar of the Franciscan Brothers Seminary between Columbiana and North Lima will be principal speaker. Francis J. Schuster of Negley, faithful navigator, will preside.

The family-style steak dinner will be served by the auxiliary of the New Waterford department to members and their wives. Priests of Catholic parishes in the county will be guests.

Joseph Fittante of New Waterford is general chairman. Other committee members are James McGowan of East Liverpool, John Kozora of Wellsville, Louis McKenna of Lisbon and Wayne DeRhodes of East Palestine.

Trio In Theft Here Held To Grand Jury

Three Bergholz area men were held for Grand Jury action after pleading guilty at preliminary hearings in Municipal Court today to charges of unarmed robbery and carrying concealed weapons stemming from the theft of five bottles of beer early Sunday from a city man.

Paul D. Mick, 21, was bound over on both charges after signing written pleas of guilty and Judge Samuel M. Chertoff set his bond at $1,000 on each count.

His brother, John L. Mick, 27, also pleaded guilty to the robbery charge while Edward Leroy Beadnell, 21, entered the same plea to a concealed weapons count. All three are from Bergholz R. D. 1. Judge Chertoff also set their bonds at $1,000.

The judge patiently explained to Paul Mick his rights, explaining several times he could plead innocent and ask for a full-scale hearing, plead innocent and waive the preliminary hearing or enter a guilty plea. He also said the case would be continued if Mick wanted to retain counsel.

The defendant finally decided to enter the guilty pleas. As the judge started his lengthy explanation, to Beadnell, the Jefferson County man said he wanted "to do the same as Paul."

After reading the robbery charge to the third defendant, John Mick interrupted to say, "I'm guilty."

The three were apprehended early Sunday on Webber Way by Patrolman Paul Carter after a chase from Market St. where they had stolen the sack of beer from Kenneth Welch of Church Ln.

Welch suffered a possible skull fracture when he was dragged an estimated 40 feet while attempting to stop the theft. He remains in "fair" condition today at City Hospital.

Welch was walking toward his home when the trio halted to ask him directions, police said. As Welch was answering, John Mick reached through an open window and grabbed the sack of beer as Paul Mick drove away at a high rate of speed.

Officer Carter, who was in a cruiser half a block away, gave chase and nabbed the three in a car owned by John Mick.

During a search, police said they found a set of brass knuckles in a pocket of Paul Mick and another set on the car seat owned by Beadnell, leading of the concealed weapons charges.

Wellsville Red Cross Meeting Is Postponed

The annual meeting of the Wellsville Red Cross Chapter has been postponed, according to Mrs. Paul Todd, home service secretary.

Ordinarily the meeting, held to elect new officers, is the last Thursday of September, but it has been delayed until local officials can confer with a new field director for the district.

Jack C. Tipton of Pittsburgh has been named as field director and is expected to be in Wellsville within the near future.

The meeting will be announced as the public is invited. Jack Lanam of Highland Ave. is president.

Killed In Collision

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP) — A two-car collision at an east Clermont County road junction took the life Monday of Clarence E. Flischel, 76, of Blanchester. Alvin Sageser, 56, of Felicity, the other driver, was charged with failure to yield to a stop sign, the Highway Patrol said.

Rules On Trash, Refuse Given Council Committee

A set of rules to govern the collection of trash and refuse was submitted to City Council Monday night by Councilman Edward Massey, chairman of a special committee which investigated the need of such rules for the department.

Massey's recommendation that the three pages be turned over to the ordinance committee for study was approved unanimously. He asked the committee to consult with John Melvin, incinerator superintendent, and Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper in drawing up the proposed legislation.

The proposed rules were not read to Council.

The special committee was named several weeks ago after Council met with Melvin and Safety-Service Director Robert Owen on complaints arising from the department's refusal to pick up hedge and tree trimmings in its usual collections.

COUNCIL ALSO turned over to the ordinance committee a letter from Mayor Steve Knight of Columbus, Ga., and a copy of an ordinance enacted by the Columbus City Commission assessing a special license of $1,000 on all businesses, wholesale or retail, that offer for sale products produced by Communist labor.

Cooper told Council the Columbiana County Bar Association has appropriated $1,000 to help cover the cost of a new codification of city laws. The bar group stipulated that copies be turned over to Municipal Court two County Courts and to Common Pleas Court in Lisbon.

Cooper had proposed the new code book at the Sept. 9 meeting, urging Council to consider the use of a printed loose-leaf book using a decimal system. He estimated the cost between $3,000 and $4,000.

His request was turned over to the ordinance committee.

On the recommendation of the streets committee, Owen was asked to ban parking in Long Alley between Pennsylvania Ave. and Locust St. for a 90-day trial period.

THE STREETS committee was asked by Massey to check on the possibility of installing lights to illuminate the sidewalks on W. 8th St. beneath the freeway overpass.

Council also authorized the ordinance committee to bring in legislation abandoning Division Alley between Center St. and Park Way. The action was recommended by the streets committee.

It also approved the streets committee's recommendation for installation of a street light on the upper end of Ohio Ave. in Little England. H. E. Flowers of Ohio Ave. requested the installation at the Sept. 9 meeting.

Council approved a claim from George MacLeod of Industry R. D. 1 for $158.50 for damages to his car July 31 when struck by a city truck on E. 5th St. Massey, chairman of the claims committee, recommended payment.

Council also approved the committee's recommendation that a claim from Jack Bernhart, 277 Haywood St., for $19.77 for damages to his car when it struck a hole at Center and Broad Sts. be rejected.

A sharp exchange between Ben Hipsley of Wellsville, a representative of M. & A. Motors, and Councilman Frank Duffy broke out during the "personal privilege" session.

Hipsley said he appeared in connection with Duffy's repeated complaints about the sidewalk being blocked on Andrews St. alongside the firm's use car lot.

THE COMPANY is being "unduly harassed", Hipsley said, declaring the original complaint was corrected three months ago and subsequent investigations by other councilmen and police show no violations.

Hipsley said he checked with neighbors in the area, but has been unable to learn the source of the complaints.

Duffy replied that the sidewalk was blocked with hoses and buckets yesterday afternoon. He said he has received numerous complaints about people being splashed with water, cars parked on the sidewalk and hoses and buckets obstructing the slag walk.

Duffy shouted at Hipsley: "Get those hoses and buckets out of there; get that heavy slag out of there, it's not fit to walk on."

Council President Charles N. Edwards then ordered Duffy to be seated. The councilman refused at first and then finally ended the discussion. The matter, however, came up two more times.

As councilmen took their turn with requests, Duffy said, "I want to ask this man if M. & A. does the same on Broadway as it does on Andrews."

"The service director and police are deliberately letting this man violate the law."

As the meeting neared its end, Councilman Floyd Murray said he visited the scene Saturday and returned Monday with Berg, chairman of the streets committee, and Police Chief Americo Radeschi. He said he saw no violations on either visit.

"I believe Hipsley will try to get along with the neighbors and I believe he will get along if we get off his back," he told Duffy.

"They have no right to take the sidewalk. Treat the people in the East End the same as they do downtown," Duffy replied.

As Duffy was talking, Massey moved for adjournment but before the second was made, Berg also declared he was unable to find any violations.

"I'm not going back again," he told Duffy. "You tell us who's complaining so we can talk to them," Berg said at the meeting finally was adjourned.

ELHS Grid Alumni Set To Organize

Miss Linda Mae Barnes And Carl Hoppel Are Wed

Miss Linda Mae Barnes wore a floor-length satin sheath when she became the bride of Carl Erwin Hoppel the afternoon of Sept. 1 at 3 o'clock in the West Beaver United Presbyterian Church of West Point.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Barnes of Lisbon R. D. 2 and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hoppel of the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd.

The Rev. Frank E. Hare, pastor, assisted by Regis Scharf, student minister, officiated for the double-ring ceremony before an altar background of palms, ferns, white chrysanthemums and candelabra. Satin bows marked the family pews.

Ralph Falconer of Wellsville gave a half-hour recital of organ music. Mrs. John Schnader of Lisbon sang "With This Ring I Wed," "Through the Years," "Always" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. The fitted bodice of her gown featured a scoop neckline and long, pointed sleeves. Embroidered Alencon lace motifs, trimmed with seed pearls, accented the front of the bodice and skirt. The detachable chapel length train was fastened at the waist with a bow.

Her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion was held in place by a crown of seed pearls and crystals. She carried a cascade arrangement of white orchids, mums and stephanotis with lovers' knots tied in the satin streamers. She observed the traditions, including the sixpence in her shoe.

Miss Betty Deem was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Donna Barboak, Miss Jane En-triken of Columbus, Mrs. John Barnes, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Charlotte Cochran, her cousin.

They wore dresses of peau de soie, the maid of honor in sea coral and the bridesmaids in willow green. The fitted bodices were fashioned with scoop necklines, dipped to a V in the back, and short sleeves. The bell-shaped skirts were styled with petal effects in the front, centered by a single rose.

Their matching cabbage rose headpieces, trimmed with seed pearls, held theater veils. All wore white gloves and single-strand pearls, gifts of the bride. They carried Colonial bouquets, the maid of honor had white roses and pompons and the bridesmaids, orange delight roses and white pompons.

David Hoppel served as his brother's best man. Ushers were John Barnes, brother of the bride, Larry Yost and Rick Hoppel, cousins of the bridegroom, and Mike Mays.

Cathy and Karla Hoppel, nieces of the bridegroom, were flower girls. They wore white dresses with nylon embroidered over-skirts and sea coral sashes. Their headpieces were single roses and rhinestones. She carried a white orchid corsage.

Miss Zora Walker, a friend of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a sleeveless dress of pale yellow cotton chiffon fashioned with a full skirt. The bodice was styled with a scooped neckline. She wore a matching Dior bow with a small veil and her corsage was of white carnations.

The mother of the bride chose a medium crepe suit with beige accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a light blue lace dress with white accessories. Both wore a red rose corsage.

Allen Weltner served as best man. Ushers were Ray Beal and Darrel Roberts, brothers of the principals.

A reception followed at the American Legion home in Hookstown.

The buffet table was centered with a three-tier cake topped with a miniature bride couple.

The bride is a 1961 graduate of South Side High School. Her husband is a 1960 graduate of Chester High School and is employed as an assistant accountant with a firm in Cleveland. The bridegroom's parents entertained at a rehearsal party.

short veils. They carried baskets of white pompons. White gloves were gifts of the bride. Pat Hoppel, the bridegroom's nephew, was ringbearer.

The mother of the bride chose a champagne beige brocade jacket dress with green mist accessories and the bridegroom's mother a jacket dress of beige brocade with cranberry accessories. White orchids complemented their costumes.

Grandmothers of the bride attending were Mrs. Arnold Flesch in brown with matching accessories, and Mrs. John Barnes in royal blue with black accessories. They wore white carnation corsages.

A reception for 200 followed on the church lawn. The buffet table, covered with a white cloth, featured a centerpiece of white mums, snapdragons and greenery. Silver appointments completed the setting.

A table, covered with a white cloth and touched with sea coral maline, held the four-tier cake, topped with a miniature bride couple.

Aides were Mrs. Regis Scharf, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Charles Snyder, Mrs. Martha Cochran, Mrs. Marlene Hoppel, Mrs. Bonnie Hoppel, Mrs. Sue Hoppel, Mrs. Lois Humphrey and Mrs. Susan Hoppel.

Guests were from Omaha, Chester, Lisbon and East Liverpool.

For her honeymoon trip to Virginia and the Skyline Drive, the bride wore a three-piece beige linen suit with brown accessories and her bridal orchids.

The newlyweds are 1962 graduates of Beaver Local High School. The bride was employed by the Ben Franklin Store in Lisbon.

Her husband, who was a wrestling and football star at Beaver Local, works for his brother, Herman Hoppel, contractor.

They are receiving friends at a newly-furnished home on the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd.

The bridegroom's parents entertained for the rehearsal dinner.

Quints 4 Days Old, Health Termed Good

ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP) — The Fischer quintuplets went into their fourth day today, breathing easily and with reported good color on all of them.

Dr. James Berbos, who brought the four girls and a boy into the world between 1 and 3 a.m. Saturday had termed the first 72 hours crucial. He left St. Luke's Hospital shortly before midnight, apparently satisfied his charges were doing well.

But he warned that the premature quints born to Mrs. Mary Ann Fischer, 30, still could have hurdles, saying, "There's no magic number for any danger period. It just depends on their day-to-day condition."

The quints took their first formula Monday—about a teaspoon of artificial milk every two hours—and were reported to be assimilating it well.

At the same time, the babies got their full names and an array of gifts informally assessed at more than $35,000.

Their mother had her first meeting with newsmen since the births, and told three photographers Monday night, "I feel fine."

The photographers, permitted in her room only 10 minutes to shoot still pictures, television tape and movie film on a pool basis, reported Mrs. Fischer very cheerful.

Mrs. Fischer and her husband, Andrew, 38, made the final decision on names for the four girls Monday night.

They will be called Mary Ann, Mary Catherine, Mary Margaret and Mary Magdalene. The lone boy had been named James Andrew earlier.

Mary Ann is named after her mother; Mary Catherine is named for Sister Mary Stephen, the St. Luke's Hospital administrator who was Catherine Davis before she became a nun; Mary Margaret is named for Margaret Dorman, chief nurse in pediatrics at St. Luke's; and Mary Magdalene is named for her paternal grandmother.

The quints were deluged with gifts, ranging from diaper service to college scholarships.

Miss Sharon Lynn Becker And W. J. Wolfe Are Wed

The First Lutheran Church in Fullerton, Calif., was the scene of the wedding of Miss Sharon Lynn Becker and William James Wolfe of Stanton, Calif., the morning of Sept. 7.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Catherine I. Becker of Placentia, Calif., and the late Willis Becker. Her husband is the son of Mrs. Willard Montgomery of Anaheim, Calif., and William E. Wolfe of Bank St.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Herman Meyer.

Given in marriage by Roger Garrison of Pomona, the bride wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace designed with sweetheart neckline and long sleeves. Tiered ruffles highlighted her bouffant skirt. A pearl and lace cap held her elbow-length illusion veil in place. She carried a prayer book topped with a white orchid. Her only jewelry was single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Sandra Albert of Fullerton was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Alma Becker and Miss Delene Leonard, both of Fullerton. They wore azalea pink sheaths and carried pink and white carnations. Beverly Lee Becker, niece of the bride, was flower girl and Lonny Olmstead, nephew of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

Mrs. Becker chose a blue chiffon dress with olive accessories. The bridegroom's mother was attired in blue brocade with white accessories. Both wore white rose corsages.

The bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Clara Bloom, wore a blue and white print dress with white accessories and a pink rose corsage.

Jerry Montgomery of Garden Grove, a step-brother of the bridegroom, was best man and escorting guests were James Maby of Santa Barbara and Perry Trotter of Garden Grove.

A reception followed in the Parish Hall. Miss Bonnie Maurits was at the guest book. A luncheon followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Harry Olmstead of Buena Park.

The couple will return to Stanton after a honeymoon trip to Northern California. For traveling, she chose a pink cotton suit with white accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Sunny Hills High School and attended Fullerton Junior College. The bridegroom attended Anaheim Union High School and is employed by the Union Oil Co. at Stanton.

Book Reviewed By Pastor For Constitution Week

The Rev. Russell Mase, pastor of the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church of East Liverpool, reviewed the book "Your Rugged Constitution" during the meeting of Bethia Southwick Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution, Friday night.

The meeting, held in the recreation room of the W. C. Bunting Co., was in observance of Constitution Week beginning today.

The guest speaker outlined the articles of the Constitution and explained the Preamble. Mrs. Clarence Green, chaplain, led devotions on "America and God." She used the year's program theme from Deut. 31:6 and also read Joshua 24:15 and closed with prayer.

Mrs. Robert Faulk, regent, conducted the DAR ritual and led in the flag salute. The national anthem was sung by the group with Mrs. Isabel Hart at the organ. A letter from Mrs. W. E. Tilton of Salem thanking the group for flowers and cards sent during her illness in the summer was read. Mrs. Alva Dickey, national defense chairman, reported on current topics and Miss Kathy O'Hara gave a reading "The Touch of the Master's Hand".

Mrs. D. T. O'Hara and Mrs. Delmar O'Hara Jr., hostesses, were assisted by the latter's daughter, Kathy, in serving lunch.

The Oct. 12 afternoon meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. William Mohler of Canfield, with Lindsey Vickers, naturalist at Mill Creek Park, Youngstown, as speaker.

By IDA JEAN KAIN

How Pounds Change Measurements

Women are vitally interested in statistics when they apply to feminine figures. So let's see how the addition of 10 pounds, or 20, can change critical measurements.

There is no average American figure. On the height score, however, the nearest to the average is 5'4" tall, and a woman of Ida Jean Kain that height is pleasingly plump at 130 to 135 pounds, depending on her structure. In that weight range our model can wear a size 14. If her waist has slipped its moorings, certain dresses may have to be eased just a trifle through the waistband.

POUNDS BETWEEN sizes: In ready-to-wear clothes, the standard number of pounds between sizes depends on structure. The range is 10 to 16 pounds, depending on the size category. Figure on 10 pounds between sizes in the small size category; 12 in the medium sizes, and 16 in the large sizes. These are averages. From the letters, it is evident that in the really large sizes there are 20 and even as many as 25 pounds from one dress size to the next.

But back to our model who is 5'4" and weighs between 130 and 135 pounds, and wears a size 14. Standard measurements for size 14 are: Bust 35 to 36; waist 27; abdominal extension girth 34½; hips 38 average. For the slender body type the hip measurement for size 14 is 36 inches; for full hips the measurement is 40 inches.

But the years fly by and the pounds sneak on...perhaps more on the waist than any place. At any rate, in no time at all our model tips the scales at 145 to 147 pounds, and she is now forced to wear a size larger.

Body measurements for size 16: Bust 37 to 37½; waist 28½; abdominal extension 36 to 36½; average hips 40; slender hips 38; full hips 42.

GRADUATING from a size 16 to an 18 is almost more than a woman can bear...but 15 pounds more force our model into an 18, willy-nilly. She now weighs 160 to 165 and has these body measurements: Bust 39; waist 30½; abdominal extension 38; hips, average 42, slender 40 and full 42 plus.

In reducing it is enormously helpful to aim toward your next smaller dress size, and in this way have a near goal. Fortunately, there are no more pounds between sizes coming down the scale than there were going up. Send long stamped, self-addressed envelope for the leaflet "Perfect Dress Size Chart." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of The Review. Postcard requests will not be answered.

Coterie Has Tea In Honor Of Mrs. M. D. McCutcheon

The Coterie Club opened the fall season with an afternoon tea and reception Saturday, honoring its founder, Mrs. Alberta McCutcheon, widow of Dr. Merle D. McCutcheon.

The affair, which marked the group's 25th anniversary, was held at the home of Mrs. William J. Horger of Ohio Ave.

Miss Jerry Ann Horger, daughter of Mrs. Horger and also a member of the club was co-hostess.

The receiving line included the hostesses, Mrs. Glen V. Wilson, president, and Mrs. McCutcheon.

Welcoming remarks were given by Mrs. Wilson, who presented the honored guest with a corsage on behalf of the club. Mrs. McCutcheon in turn, gave a brief talk, reminiscing on highlights of the club when it was formed.

The president also presented corsages to four charter members — Miss Eleanor Jane Bennett, first president, Mrs. Virgil Kirkbride, Mrs. Lawrence Todd and Miss Alice Peddicord, and Mrs. Nessie Dunlop, president of the City Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Horger, program chairman for the 1963-64 term, distributed the program booklets. The program for the year will be in conjunction with the club's silver anniversary, presenting former members as speakers.

Mrs. John Weitzel of Alliance, wife of the former band director of East Liverpool High School and a former member, was guest speaker.

She gave the "Life of Henry Mancini," musician and composer, who attended high school with her husband at Aliquippa.

In closing, Mrs. Weitzel, a pianist, played Mancini's composition including his Academy Award selections.

Tea was served in the dining room with Mrs. McCutcheon presiding at the silver tea service. A large arrangement of pink gladioli, white mums and ferns, centered the tea table, which was covered with an embroidered white cloth.

Mrs. Donald Dunlop of Wintersville, a former member and school teacher, will be speaker at the meeting Sept. 25 at the home of Mrs. Joseph W. Cooper of North St. Her topic will be "Antiquing In Ohio." Mrs. Charles R. Waggoner will be co-hostess.

Mrs. William Kessler Heads Lisbon Area Camp Fire Girls

Mrs. William Kessler of Fairfield Rd. was elected chairman of the executive committee of the Camp Fire Girls Association of Lisbon at the initial meeting of the group Monday evening at the American Legion Home.

David Borrow was elected vice chairman; Mrs. William Hailey, secretary; Mrs. George M. Nace Jr., treasurer, and Mrs. Clyde Tschantz, registrar.

Other members of the committee are Atty. Richard Kennedy, Mrs. Robert Cameron, Donald Loch, Mrs. Russell Shaw, Mrs. Shirley Pilmer, James Pezzano, Mrs. Theodore Taylor, Mrs. Walter Ewing, the Rev. Ralph Green and Mrs. Robert Hahn.

Director Gives Training
Miss Harriett Dively of Grand Rapids, Mich., director of Region 9, had charge of the orientation and training for the leaders. She met with members of the committee to present the complete camp fire program, its purposes and regulations.

Atty. Richard Kennedy, counsel for the association presented the articles of incorporation and Mrs. Donald Loch read the bylaws as set up by a committee composed of Mrs. Loch, Mrs. Richard Kennedy and Mrs. H. D. Lessig and both were approved.

Wi-Ka-Ya Camp Fire Girls of Lisbon was the name chosen by the committee composed of Mrs. Cameron, Mrs. Taylor and Miss Dively.

Next Session Oct. 28

The executive committee will meet at least six times a year and the next is Oct. 28.

Mrs. Ray Alexander, presided at the meeting as chairman of the nominating committee, composed of Mrs. Shaw and Mrs. Pilmer.

Grange To Meet

The Lisbon Grange will meet Thursday evening at 8:30 at the Grange Hall on the Canton Rd. Guests of Mrs. Gertrude McCord of W. Maple St. the past weekend were her sister, Mrs.

Catherine Evans of Niles, and Miss Alta Easterday of Steubenville.

The Marie Lundgren Group held a dinner meeting Sunday evening at the Masonic Temple of Sebring, with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Polen of Sebring host and hostess.

Those from Iva Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star attending were Mr. and Mrs. Leland Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cope.

A Christmas dinner party is planned for the next meeting at the Lundgren home in Columbus.

Mrs. Nannie McKee of N. Beaver St. has spent the past week visiting her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Martin, of Canton, and her granddaughter, Mr. and Mrs. David Frase, of Louisville.

Mrs. A. E. Christopher of Vine St. had as Sunday dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Bado and sons, George McKenzie and Richard Glenn, of Bellevue, Pa., and Miss Nellie Christopher and Paul Christopher, both of Salem.

Sunday guests of Miss Nell Eyster of W. Pine St. were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Farmer of Alliance.

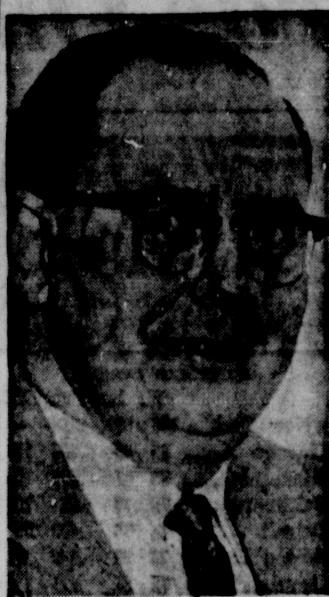

Mrs. Gene Howell and son, Jody, of Barnesville have returned home after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Stuckey, of N. Beaver St.

Mrs. Joseph Dornon, president of the Edna Conrad Group, accompanied by Mrs. Walter Lipp and Mrs. Walter Cope, attended a luncheon of the group Saturday at Aldom's Restaurant at Alliance.

Field Auditor Will Testify

ance; overstatements of the amount of money in both the Peoples Bank of Weirton and the Bank of Weirton, where county funds are deposited; and deliberate overstatements of the cash in the tax office.

Ruled Tax Office
Tarr added he will attempt to show that Mayhew was in charge of the tax office during the specific period, and that he made all entries in the books, "that he and only he counted all the cash while it was in the office."

Atty. Gilbert Bachmann of Wheeling, chief defense counsel, said in opening remarks that Mayhew had no training in accounting, bookkeeping and auditing, and his only formal education was through the eighth grade. He said Mayhew inherited the bookkeeping system at the tax office when he started in 1933.

"We will show the total lack of supervision or control by the state and county over a period of years which now results in a shortage of $35,000," Bachmann declared. "I don't believe the state will be able to show when or where the money was taken, but now the defendant is charged with taking every penny from that office."

Clearance Claimed
Bachmann, representing the defendant with Atty. John Gaden and Atty. Edwin Flowers, said he will show that past auditors from the state "gave Mayhew a clean bill of health."

The first two witnesses called by the prosecutor were E. D. Rothrock, president of the Peoples Bank in Weirton, and D. N. Thomas, vice president of the Bank of Weirton.

They testified as to the validity of the transfer checks from the Peoples Bank to the Bank of Weirton and also testified concerning their respective balances of the county's account during the period Dec. 1960, to June 1961.

Evidence was introduced as to the various checks which were written at the end of the month on one bank, and then cashed in the other bank on the same day, apparently making the county's balance appear in order.

Sheriff Follows Hobbs
Following the bank officials to the stand were Hobbs, who was Republican sheriff from 1956 to 1960, and Manypenny, a Democrat who succeeded Hobbs.

Both testified Mayhew had been chief deputy before they had hired him, and they said they each gave him full responsibilities over the tax collection office.

They said the sheriff's monthly financial statements required by law were signed in their names by rubber stamps by Mayhew. They testified that transfer checks produced as evidence were also signed by the rubber stamp method. They had no knowledge of the checks nor had they given any directives that the checks be issued, they testified.

Hobbs and Manypenny said "they seldom inspected the tax office and 'never' inspected the books or cash."

Relates Discovery
Manypenny related facts leading up to the discovery of the shortage. He said Mayhew became ill in September 1962 and when Miss Patterson and Mrs. Cullen attempted to balance the books for September, they found a $4,000 shortage.

Manypenny said he contacted Mayhew and was told by the defendant that the shortage was "a mistake in bookkeeping that would get straightened out when he got back to work."

He said Mayhew worked on the books several days after that time, but the audit eventually disclosed a shortage.

In cross-examination by Atty. Bachmann, both sheriffs said Miss Patterson and Mrs. Cullen had access to the safe in the tax office and when too much money was in the account of the Peoples Bank, it was the general procedure to transfer by use of the checks drawn on the Bank of Weirton account.

On Weirton Bank
Most of the county's checks are drawn upon the Bank of Weirton account.

Hobbs and Manypenny testified that they had no knowledge of the combination to the office safe, under cross-examination.

Oaths were administered yesterday to Britton, whose audit contained 183 pages, Miss Patterson and Mrs. Cullen and they were ushered to another part of the Courthouse out of earshot of the trial proceedings.

A witness identified as C. A. Thomas was also sworn in and remained with the other three state's witnesses.

The jury hearing the case is comprised of William Huff, Joseph Rumsic, Betty Adams, George W. Arehart Jr., John Hatala Jr., Nicholas Nardo, William H. McCall, Richard A. Rossy, Otto N. Price, George Stepanovich, J. Albert Hall and Bernard H. Hissom. Samuel Vance and Stanley Sagan are alternates.

Court recessed Monday afternoon at 4:15 until this morning.

Dodgers Win 1st Round From Cards On 3-1 Decision

Simmons Faces Koufax Tonight In Second Game

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
"They've just got to fold," said Leo Durocher, "they've been so hot, they've just got to."

Is the outspoken Los Angeles coach right, or can the St. Louis Cardinals bounce back from a 3-1 defeat by the National League-leading Dodgers Monday night in the opener of the three-game showdown that may decide the pennant winner?

That was the question today as the Cardinals made ready for round No. 2—against Dodger ace Sandy Koufax, 23-5. Starting for St. Louis will be Curt Simmons, 15-7.

Leo made his comment before the game, with the Cardinals heading into the series at home only one game back of the Dodgers after rolling to 10 consecutive victories and 19 in 20 games.

The tense game moved into the ninth tied 1-1 before the Dodgers put together a double by Ron Fairly, a key single by Willie Davis and an error for the two runs that gave them the victory and a two-game lead over the Cardinals.

Now, even if the Cardinals take the two remaining games the Dodgers will be in first place.

"I am not the least bit pessimistic," said St. Louis Manager Johnny Keane. "We've got two more with 'em. This pennant race is a long way from being over yet."

While they were playing the big one at St. Louis, two other games were played in the National League.

Bob Veale pitched a two-hitter and Bill Mazeroski drove in the game's only run with a single in the last of the ninth as Pittsburgh edged the Chicago Cubs 1-0.

Juan Marichal won his 23rd game with a six-hitter and Orlando Cepeda hit a decisive home run to give San Francisco a 4-3 victory over Milwaukee.

The only American League game—Chicago at Washington—was rained out.

The Dodgers scored first against the Cardinals, getting to Ernie Broglio for a run in the sixth on a double by Maury Wills, his steal of third and a single by Tommy Davis.

Eagles' Back Suspended For Grabbing Official

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A sorry Don Burroughs, the Philadelphia Eagles' defensive back, will not be present at Sunday's National Football League game here against the St. Louis Cardinals because of a disciplinary order from NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

Rozelle not only barred Burroughs from the game as the result of the player's strenuous protests Sunday against a decision in the Eagles-Pittsburgh Steelers' 21-21 tie game, he told Burroughs to keep away from Franklin Field.

The one-game suspension is without pay.

The action, Rozelle said, is because Burroughs "ran after a game official (field judge Dan Tehan) who was going to his dressing quarters on the opposite side of the field from the Eagles' locker room. Burroughs grabbed

Podres Hurls Neat 3-Hitter

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers hoped today they had finally shoved the "choke" charge down the throats of their most caustic critics.

"They've been accusing us of choking. Now we'll see what happens. The shoe is on the other foot."

These words were uttered by Don Drysdale, Los Angeles' right-handed ace, following the Dodgers' vital 3-1 triumph over St. Louis Monday night that widened their first-place lead to two terribly big games over the Cardinals.

"Lew Burdette (St. Louis veteran pitcher) was giving us the business all through the game," he said. "He was clutching his throat while sitting in the dugout. All that did was to make our guys more determined."

Burdette's obvious reference to choking apparently did not affect southpaw Johnny Podres who hurled a masterful three-hitter through eight innings before tiring and giving way to Ron Perrano. The peerless bullpen specialist mopped up in the ninth. It was his 64th relief appearance and 18th save.

The Dodgers got to St. Louis starter Ernie Broglio and southpaw reliever Bobby Shantz for eight hits including three by Willie Davis and two by Maury Wills. The two stole four bases and scored two of the three Dodger runs.

The pressure now undoubtedly is on the Cardinals who face the added hurdle tonight of beating Sandy Koufax, the best in the business.

Even if they do and follow it up with another victory in Wednesday night's finale, the Dodgers still would leave St. Louis in first place by percentage points.

Furthermore, the league leaders will have the advantage of playing all their nine remaining games at home, three against the last-place New York Mets, three against eighth-place Pittsburgh and three against fifth-place Philadelphia.

The Cards will play the Cincinnati Reds five games and the Chicago Cubs two, four of these on the road.

Curt Simmons, the rejuvenated veteran, will oppose Koufax, who owns a 23-5 record that includes three straight triumphs against the Cardinals. Simmons, six years older than Koufax, 27, is pitching the best ball of his career. He has won 15 games, the last three by shutouts.

It was only the second loss in the last 21 games for the Cards who trailed the Dodgers by seven games just two weeks ago. It also ended a 10-game winning streak.

"This was the 14th victory in our last 20 games," said Drysdale. "So how can anyone say we're choking up? We've played great ball, but they were phenomenal. Even phenoms can lose, too."

Little Loop Graduation Fete Tonight

A graduation banquet for 56 boys who are leaving Little League baseball will be held tonight at 6:30 at the Travelers Hotel.

Lawrence Zollinger is chairman for the dinner.

Officers for the 1963 season have been named with H. A. (Hap) Tullis returning for the second year as commissioner. Merrill Miller is vice commissioner; Art Lynch, secretary; Zollinger, treasurer; Dave McDonald, president of the American League and Pete Cox, president of the National League.

Directors include Don Burbick, Dick Forzano, J. A. Montgomery, Ralph Crowe, Dick Judge, Wilber Shaffer, Dennis Casey, Glenn Barnett, Jack Pease, Jim Lyons, Bob Goodman, Bryan Kiernan, John Fitzjohn and Floyd Stansbury.

Co-Captains Cited Top EL Performers

East Liverpool's two co-captains were named the top back and lineman of the week for their performances in the Midland game Friday night.

"Bolton" Bob Bowyer, Potter fullback and guard Bruce Burbick were selected by the ELHS coaching staff after movies of the game were viewed.

Bowyer picked up 85 yards rushing and scored two touchdowns with his bull-like thrusts through the Midland line. Burbick was outstanding on defense from his linebacker spot.

Milwaukee To Honor Lefty Warren Spahn

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP) — Despite persistent rumors that the Braves are headed for Atlanta in 1964, Milwaukee's largest turnout of the season is expected tonight to pay tribute to wonderful Warren Spahn.

About 40,000 fans, civic leaders and baseball officials will join in tendering the 42-year-old southpaw one of his greatest honors on "Warren Spahn Night."

Hall of Famers Carl Hubbell, Lefty Grove and Gabby Hartnett will participate in the pre-game festivities before Spahn makes a bid for his 21st victory of the season and No. 348 of his career in a meeting with the San Francisco Giants.

The usual shower of gifts will be missing. Instead, Spahn's name will be perpetuated by establishment of the Warren Spahn Scholarship Foundation. The fund will be financed by the sale of "Spahn" buttons at 25 cents each and private gifts.

The button sale is expected to realize more than $50,000. Private gifts include a personal contribution of $500 by Spahn himself.

"The Braves' ace will be given a portrait, scrolls from each of the nine other National League clubs and a gift from his teammates. His wife will receive a jewel box and his son, Greg, 14, will be given a Western saddle."

Spahn, who earns $50,000 a year from the Braves and has a sprawling ranch in Hartshorne, Okla., agreed to the "night" only after assurances that the proceeds would go to set up the scholarship fund.

Kashuba, Kinsey Team To Capture Golfing Event

T. H. Kashuba and Dr. R. J. Kinsey teamed up to win Saturday's event at the East Liverpool Country Club while Don E. Smith stepped up for the honors Sunday.

Kashuba and Kinsey scored 65 in the best ball medal play defeating M. W. Thompson and Bob Patterson who totaled 66. In the second division Robert Bowersock and W. B. Laughlin won with 65.

Smith fired 30 to win the selective nine hole play Sunday with Don Burbick, Dr. J. J. Laneve, T. H. Kashuba and R. J. Clark scoring 31's.

Bowersock won the second division honors with his 28.

Overtrick Favorite In Little Brown Jug

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — The starting field for Thursday's Little Brown Jug will be decided with entries today.

A crowd of more than 35,000 is expected to witness the second leg of racing's triple crown for 3-year-olds at the Delaware County Fairgrounds.

Officials were predicting a probable field of 11 in quest of a purse likely to reach $70,000.

Overtrick, son of Solicitor, is the early favorite despite two recent defeats.

Meadow Skipper and Country Don, who turned back Overtrick in his last two starts, are in the speed-packed field.

Former Big League Pitcher Hangs Self

LE MARS, Iowa (AP) — John Niggeling, 58, former major league baseball pitcher, was found dead Monday at his hotel room in Le Mars where he worked as a barber.

Sherman Lindell, Plymouth County medical examiner, listed the cause as suicide and said death was caused by hanging.

Niggeling played in the majors with the Boston Braves, Pittsburgh, St. Louis Browns and Washington. His best year was with the Browns in 1942 when he won 15 and lost 11.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

Notes From A Hollywood Wanderer

HOLLYWOOD Pardon me for seeming bushed and foot-weary. Been wandering through a labyrinth of film studios in quest of a pretty girl.

At first stop, "The Greatest Show on Earth," found Jack Palance, a found Fabian, no pretty girl.

Palance, as circus boss in ABC series, stood in sawdust under aerialist net, arms folded. Granite. Wouldn't want to mix it up with him. He was rehearsing scene with James Coburn, staking him like prize fighter, director circling them like referee.

COBURN YELLING, "I can't care, Johnny! Not any more. Not now! Not about you! Not about Mack! Not about anything!"

Over and over. Palance smacked him, buff, buff. During buff-buffs, I chatted with Fabian, he in aerialist garb for guest role.

"The stunt man, Russ Saunders, did most of my stuff," he said. "But they had to have me hanging from the ladder way up there by one leg for the scene where I get shot."

"The director, he's a nice man and won't have you do such a thing without asking first. He asked me and I did it."

The director called, "Stop hitting the guest, Jack Palance, and come on back here."

LEARNED that Ruth Roman played aerialist in one show but was so afraid of heights she took train to location in Venice, Fla. Man aerialist in wig did her tricks for her, looked good in air but walked like truck on ground. Miss Roman taught him how to wiggle.

Bette Davis played other guest role, was talked into it by producer who described part as "Medea against a circus background." Said, "Bette, baby, I want you to show Judith Anderson how to do it."

That moment, Coburn forgot lines. Palance cued him: "You don't care, remember? You don't care about Fabian." "I care about Fabian," script girl said.

WANDERED over to "Arrest and Trial" set, another ABC series which started Sunday night. Watched — holy smokes — Josephine Hutchinson, as camera caught her long, silent, shocked reaction in courtroom to emotional breakdown of witness, Joseph Schildkraut.

Great job. Haven't seen her since "Oil for the Lamps of China."

Schildkraut came over, said: "Do you know when I got my script for this show? Twenty-four hours before shooting began! I say more in these 90 minutes than Hamlet and Lear say put together!

"In 'Diary of Anne Frank,' I played 1,087 consecutive performances and then worked six months, four days, on the picture. I just finished doing 'Nicomachus' in 'Greatest Story Ever Told.' And now this."

"IT'S LIKE doing a feature film in nine days. Our new so-called art form, TV — blah! There's not that much money in the Treasury of the United States of America to get me to do a series."

"But this script is a beauty. It asks, 'Is the machine more important than the man?' I only do the things I like. Why not? This month I celebrate my 50th anniversary in show business!"

Sloped off to lunch, muttering, mirabile dictu, met Gisele MacKenzie at the Brown Derby, more vivacious than ever she was in the "Hit Parade" years.

SHE WILL BE Sid Caesar's foil on Caesar's show every other Thursday night. All bubbly about it. As she talked, ache left my bones and wrist watch melted.

"It was Sid who picked me out of a number of actresses," she said. "An agent at the William Morris office called my husband, saying, 'Guess what? It's happened, it's all set. Let me talk to Gisele.'"

"My husband said, 'Can't. She's at the fortune teller's.'"

"What had happened was that a girl friend of mine was giving me a birthday present by treating me to a bit of the occult. The teller was an old harpy who said, 'A contract is coming up and you'll have to cancel things. You're about to get a phone call. And you must say yes. It's important you do it.'"

"WHEN I GOT HOME, my husband, Bob, was still on the phone with the William Morris man. 'Good old Sid. He's the one who really wanted me. It means a lot if the boss wants you.'"

Asked her if it were possible the fortune teller was Caesar in disguise. She said: "No. There was no couch."

Marched off joyously to the pool, whistling "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody."

IOOF At Newell Will Visit Lodge

A delegation from Newell Odd Fellows Lodge 447 will visit Colliers Lodge tonight with first degree work to be on the program.

Plans were made for the visit Monday night in the IOOF Hall. Work is continuing on remodeling of the kitchen, and an attempt is being made to obtain another hot water heater. A two-speed fan has been donated by the Newell 447 Club, headed by John Addis. Walter Pasco, past noble grand, will also donate a fan, he announced.

It was decided to spend more time visiting ill members. A letter was read from the grand master thanking the lodge for a set of dishes given as a gift on a visit to Newell.

Lunch was served by Harry Messenheimer and Ernest Phillips. Next meeting is Monday, with Messenheimer to head the lunch committee. The lodge has changed its meeting nights to Monday from Friday because of the football season.

East End Man Given Suspended Jail Term

An East End man was given a suspended 10-day term in the County Jail Monday in Municipal Court after being found guilty of operating a car without a driver's license.

Ernest (Mutt) Kelly, 803 High St., was warned by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff he will serve the sentence if found again driving an auto without a permit. Kelly was arrested on an affidavit filed by Patrolman Paul Burson Jr. after Joseph Moss, 503 Virginia Ave., was fined $50 and costs for permitting an unlicensed driver to drive his auto. He was arraigned last Tuesday on the charge along with a charge of wilfully resisting and obstructing a police officer but the second charge has been continued to Oct. 9.

County Raid Listed

The Ohio Department of Liquor Control at Columbus reported one raid was conducted in Columbiana County by the enforcement division during August.

This resulted in one arrest and conviction and a $100 fine. In other activities, three permit holders were cited for a total of six violations.

Two of the citations were issued by the Department of Liquor Control and one by East Liverpool police. The city is in the Youngstown District of the department.

He recently was named "Outstanding Airman of the Month" at Iceland. He is a graduate of David Anderson High School at Lisbon and is married to the former Catherine Ullman of East Palestine.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a boy 13 years old with a terrible problem. My mother is a very nice person but she is not a very good barber. She cuts my hair and my little brother's, too, and she does a lousy job of it.

For a week after a haircut, I'm ashamed to leave the house. All the guys in the neighborhood ask me when I'm going to the electric chair.

I've told my dad how I feel about this but he says haircuts by barbers cost a lot of money and we can't afford it. He also says my hair grows like a weed and I'd have to go every other week.

Is there a solution to my problem? Or do I just have to suffer with it until I am old enough to earn some money so I can buy haircuts on my own? — SHAVED RAT.

Dear S.R.: Ask your dad if he'll take you to a barber college. The prices are cheaper there because students do the cutting.

The price of haircuts is no joke these days. But they haven't gone up any more than most other commodities and services. It just seems that way to us old fogies who remember when a shave and a haircut were two bits.

Spoiled Guest

Dear Ann: Our daughter who is 17 invited a college roommate whom I will call Helena to spend two weeks with us. It's too late to do anything about this guest but I'm writing to settle a few questions for next time.

Our daughter feels that since Helena has grown up in great wealth and is accustomed to having servants wait on her hand and foot, she should not have been expected to do any housework while she was a guest in our home.

Our own daughter pressed Helena's dresses and picked up after her. It annoyed me when Helena would gab on the phone by the hour while our daughter made both their beds and served her guest coffee — presumably to give her strength to hang on the phone for another hour.

We just put Helena on the plane and our daughter and I had a long discussion. She feels she was a perfect hostess and that I am wrong to criticize her for catering to the girl. We would like your opinion. — MMM.

Dear MMM: The guest sounds thoroughly spoiled and ungracious. A lady does not make a servant out of her hostess.

Since your daughter cheerfully played handmaid to her friend, however, I see no reason for you to criticize her. This was strictly between them. If you had been left with the extra work I'd have offered vastly different advice.

Disillusioned

Dear Ann: Maybe you or some of your readers can help me. I'm a woman past 40, never married, and have kept myself busy and content with a multitude of interests.

About three years ago a close male relative, for whom I've always had a great deal of affection and respect, started to keep company with a girl 20 years his junior. These two have been carrying on an immoral relationship and everyone in town knows it.

What I want to know is this: What is the correct way for me to think about this relationship? How do people deal with an ugly affair which reflects dishonor on the whole family? I need an answer. — LIBRA.

Dear Libra: You say you've kept yourself busy with a multitude of interests. Perhaps you have not kept yourself busy enough.

It's always sad when people whom we admire and respect disappoint us but a mature individual does not allow himself to become unglued because others don't live up to his standards. One of the secrets of real contentment is to live and let live.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruise —

DEAR HELOISE: Once in a while I have sweet rolls that become a little hard. I have found how to rejuvenate them so that they taste fresh again.

Take the two halves from your oven and place them one inch apart. On the bottom shelf, fill a pie tin with warm water and turn on the oven. When this water starts boiling place the sweet rolls on the top shelf so that the steam coming up from the water will refresh them. It sure works for us!

When the rolls are very stale and hard, I find that I can take the cupped top to one of my big vegetable pans and place it over the rolls after they have been placed on the shelf. A piece of foil could also be used for this. If foil is used, be sure to cover the top of the roll only and not the bottom.

By placing a lid over the rolls it seems to catch the steam which soaks back down into the rolls. Be sure to keep your oven on medium heat.

This certainly saves on a mother's budget, especially if she goes to the store only once a week and must buy sweet rolls in advance.

MARY KING.

IT WORKS: TRY IT.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: My brocade sofa has a flounce on the bottom near the floor. It is the biggest mess you have ever seen. Black shoe polish from men's shoes have rubbed off on it and we cannot get it clean. Besides, in a few places it is torn where we have hit it with the vacuum cleaner. Have you a suggestion? FLABBERGASTED.

FLABBERGASTED.

DEAR FLABBER: Since your sofa is brocade and you probably can't get any more material to replace the flounce, why don't you go to an upholstery shop or department store and ask to see some decorator fringe? This comes in any width. From 4 to 6, and even to an 8 inch width. It can be bought by the yard, is not too expensive and comes in all colors.

While you are there ask for some gimpy tacks. Remove the brocade flounce from the bot-

15-Minute Vigil Set To Protest Bombing

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP) — Students at Oberlin College were scheduled to hold a 15 minute silent vigil at noon today to protest a church bombing in Birmingham, Ala., Sunday which killed four Negro girls.

About 300 University of Illinois students staged a similar demonstration Monday on the steps of the auditorium building in Champaign, Ill. Leaders said similar vigils are expected to be held at several schools throughout the country.

Legislation Due For Licensing Of 'Hobby Horses'

City licenses should be required for coin-operated hobby horses and other entertainment devices, Councilman George Willshaw said at Monday night's meeting.

His motion that the ordinance committee and Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper bring in an amendment covering all coin-operated entertainment devices was approved unanimously without discussion.

Willshaw said the present ordinance covers pinball machines which register a score and music machines.

However, there now are coin-operated machines being exhibited that do not register a score and therefore are not included in the ordinance. Willshaw adding, citing mechanical hobby horses exhibited at some markets and stores.

The local distributor pays a yearly license fee of $1,200 plus a fee for each machine exhibited, but under the present law he is paying for some that shouldn't be included, Willshaw said.

Improvements Pinned To State Bond Issue
OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—President John Millett of Miami University has told his faculty the school's chances of capital improvements in the next few years depend on the $250 million state bond referendum Nov. 5.

Millett, in his annual faculty talk at the start of the school year, said Monday night that defeat of the proposal would be viewed widely as "further justification to curtail government endeavors in many educational and welfare fields."

The proposal is for issue of $250 million in bonds for capital improvements in education, conservation, recreation and state facilities.

Millett said Miami might expect about $14 million of the $175 million earmarked for education.

Rector In Cleveland Chosen Archdeacon
CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Louis M. Brereton, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church here since 1956, has been named archdeacon of the Ohio Episcopal Diocese in Cleveland.

The announcement was made Monday by Bishop Nelson M. Burroughs, who noted that Dr. Brereton has "had effective ministries at St. Paul's, Akron; St. Peter's, Lakewood, and St. Paul's, Canton, and has labored in every area of diocesan life."

Dr. Brereton expects to come to Cleveland in November. His duties at first will be as assistant to the bishop, with special concern for new churches and parishes in the 48-county area of Northern Ohio. The new archdeacon is a native of Mount Vernon and a graduate of Kenyon College.

Car Mishap Fatal
PINEVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Charles Hensley, 42, of Cincinnati was killed Monday when his car crashed into a guard rail on Ky. 119 in Bell County and landed in a field. His wife and two children were taken to a Pineville hospital.

OFF THE RECORD

Junior Editors Quiz on
THE GRAND CANYON

QUESTION: How could the Colorado River have formed the Grand Canyon?

ANSWER: No one has ever put into writing or pictures the appeal of Arizona's Grand Canyon; ordinary words like thrilling, wonderful, beautiful, can't convey the feeling of awe a person has when he sees it. It seems impossible to believe that this mighty gash was cut by a single river, which can be seen far below, glittering like a silver snake. The visitor asks himself, how could the river have dug so deep down into the earth?

The answer is that the river didn't gouge down, although it did cut through the rocks. Geologists tell us that the river remained in place, and the land slowly, over ages of time, moved up. The great width of the canyon (often 10 miles across) came from erosion due to rain, wind, temperature and chemical changes. The softer materials tumbled down and gradually were carried away. The exposed rocks are in many shades of buff, orange, green, red and pink, to which the blue of the atmosphere gives an indescribable richness and beauty. Spaniards, led by Coronado in 1540, were the first white men to look down over the canyon's rim.

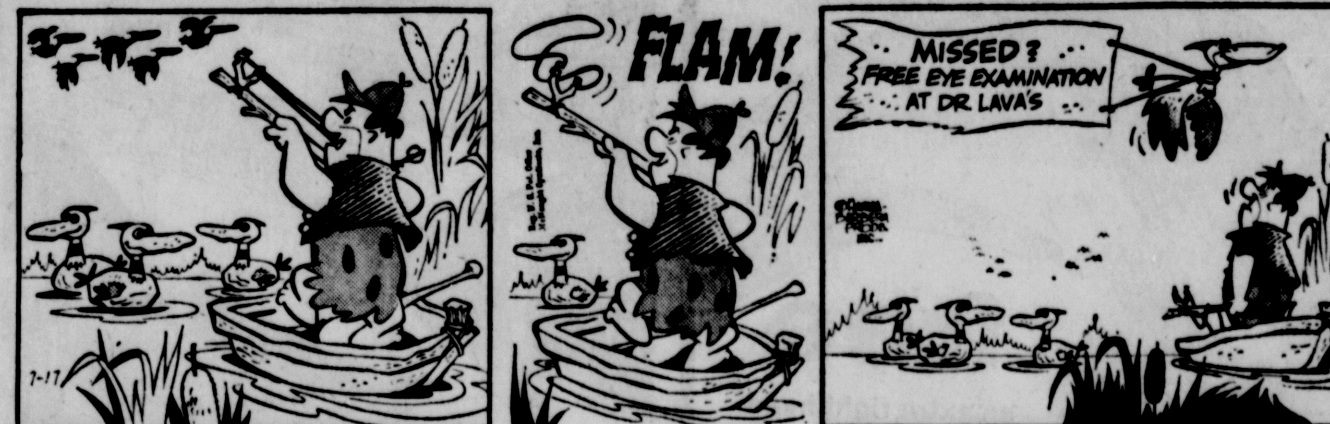

FOR YOU TO DO: You will probably be able to find a color picture of the Grand Canyon in a travel book or encyclopedia. With this as a guide, color our artist's picture. Try for the sense of distance, using much blue toward the horizon.

Judy Brick of Youngstown, Ohio, wins the daily grand prize of a 20-volume set of World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you to may win a set.
